Billion a Year For 10 Years Needed
In Electrical Growth

ACCORDING to President Griffith, of the National Electric Light Association, the country will need a billion dollars a year new capital, for ten years, just for the expansion of the light and power industry. That is faster than ever built railroads, even in boomiest days.

Whether under public or private ownership, somebody will have to furnish those billions. Under either system, the money will be forthcoming only if those who furnish it can count on getting it back, with interest. Taxes and risk will also have to be paid for, out of one pocket under public ownership and out of another under private. Rates, or rates and taxes, under any system, must cover these items, and should not cover much more above operating and expenses and depreciation.

There is no magic or hocus-pocus in either public or private ownership; though there often is in the language in which they are peddled to the people. The people have the right to decide for themselves whether they will go in to the electric business, and how far. But they also have the right, in considering the question, to be told the truth. Which is about the last thing they hear, once the issue gets into politics.

HERBERT HOOVER, at the same electrical convention, expressed his preference for state rather than national regulation, even when lines crossing state frontiers make national regulation legal. Doubtless Hoover is right—so long as the state commissions live up to their responsibilities.

But if one state commission is subservient to the regulated corporations and another to corporation-baiting demagogues; another is stupid and another under-equipped, state regulation begins to break down.

If you do not want the regulating power to go from the state to the nation support your state commissions—put good men on them and keep them there; give them the necessary staff and equipment, and stand behind them when they deal justly, even if your personal rates go up.

HOOVER further made the important suggestion that in the states where municipally-owned plants are not subject to the state regulating body, they be at least held to a system of uniform accounting, so that the people may know the truth and do their own regulating. It almost never happens that administrators will tell the whole truth except under compulsion.

This compulsion is already exercised on private managers, and is at least as necessary for public managers, who are under the constant temptation of politics. The citizens are entitled to the same information and protection with a public corporation as are the stockholders of a private one.

WATCH a "gang" of small boys who are real friends. They spend part of the time bounding each other, part of it calling each other names, part of it seriously fighting the other gang, and the rest in playing fighting games. Thus their friendship grows, until it becomes a precious thing, to be treasured through all the long memories of non-combative manhood and old age.

Pick up your liad, the greatest literary monument of the childhood of the world. It is an epic of fighting men who never grew up. There are miniature liads in every back yard, and budding Odysseys in every trip to the old swimming hole.

And watch the antics of childish men, who conduct the affairs of nations, playing with the terrible weapons of science and the lives and fortunes of men like irresponsible urchins, who know nothing to do with clouds and stones but throw them at each other.

Will the world never grow up?

GOVERNOR AT SCENE

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—Gov. Friend W. Richardson came here by automobile from San Luis Obispo this afternoon to confer with Santa Barbara officials on a program of state aid for rehabilitation.

Mrs. J. N. Leebick, secretary of the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross, with headquarters in the office of the aid commissioner in the courthouse, and H. L. Hanson, treasurer, in the First National bank, today were authorized by Red Cross authorities in San Francisco, to accept donations that may be offered for relief of earthquake victims in Santa Barbara.

In telegraphic advices to the officers of the local chapter, the point was stressed that the Red Cross is making no appeal for funds, but is merely announcing a channel by which voluntary contributions may be taken care of if there are persons who wish to subscribe to a relief fund.

The Santa Ana Kiwanis club at its social meeting in the Orange County park last night, directed the secretary to wire Santa Barbara sympathy of the club and to appropriate $100 of the club's fund to relief work

Clearing House Appeals to California Bankers For Help in Reconstruction

(By United Press)

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—Quake-torn Santa Barbara took heart this morning after the first period without a shock had elapsed since the first devastating temblor.

A bright sun dispelled the murky gloom of early morning, and the work of clearing streets and buildings began again in defiance of the countless setbacks of the night.

Hammers sounded everywhere. Temporary scaffolding and forest of props of every sort were being set against the crazily leaning store and building fronts that lined the streets and in some cases nearly arched them.

Call for $20,000,000

The Santa Barbara clearing house held a meeting in mid-morning, as the result of which a call was issued to the bankers of California to contribute to a $20,000,000 building and loan fund, to finance reconstruction. The loans are requested at a rate not to exceed 6 per cent.

The clearing house also telegraphed an appeal for contributions to a $20,000,000 earthquake fund to the clearing houses of San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Sacramento, Fresno, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Denver, St. Louis, Kansas City, Spokane, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and New York.

This fund is in addition to the $20,000,000 building loan and, according to the telegram, "is to be used at the discretion of this association with the probability of returning 50 to 75 per cent on subscriptions of $500 or more at the end of seven years."

The city council and chamber of commerce wired the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, accepting an offer of assistance, and asked for a corps of structural engineers to guide the rebuilding of the ruined city.

Precautions Save Lives
Precautions taken by the people of Santa Barbara, following Monday's disaster, undoubtedly prevented further loss of life. There had been a general move to quit the city in the afternoon, but darkness fell early, curbing the exodus.

Following the new temblors early today, this exodus was resumed. Many families did not wait for daylight, but started out along the roads, carrying clothing and household goods with them.

They left behind a city in which the devastation had scattered tragedy, pathos and humor indiscriminately among the ruins.

There was the inevitable "earthquake baby," born to Mrs. Christina Rodriguez, in St. Francis hospital, while the building trembled in the grip of Monday's quake. Mother and son were removed in

EARTH RUMBLES IN EARLY MORNING HOURS AND MANY RUINS ARE SHAKEN DOWN

Inhabitants Stand Panic-Stricken and Witness Further Destruction Of Magnificent Resort

SLEEP AND EAT ON LAWN

(By United Press)

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—Santa Barbara's half day of earthquake respite was ended at 1:40 this afternoon, when a slight but distinct temblor shook the city. A second quake of approximately the same strength followed at 2:14 p. m. No damage was done, and the usual crash of falling wreckage did not accompany the two latest earthquakes.

(By United Press)

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—Three distinct earth tremors spread further terror among panic-stricken Santa Barbara residents today. Strict martial law was established throughout the city to safeguard life and property. A severe jolt, accompanied by rumblings and rolling of the earth, literally rocked the entire city at 1:22 a. m. Buildings left standing, but in a shaky state from the disastrous upheaval of yesterday morning, crumbled to the streets.

Inhabitants stood panic-stricken in their yards or on hillsides, and witnessed further destruction of the once magnificent main thoroughfare of the resort city, which less than 24 hours before was lined with beautiful structures of ornate Spanish design.

Two recurrent shocks, at 4:42 a. m. and 5:55 a. m., spread fresh panic among frightened Santa Barbarans. The last jolt toppled showers of bricks and cornices to the streets, endangering lives of police and wreckers working in the quake zone.

Santa Barbara's famed residential section was virtually deserted. Entire families trooped to the hillside with their beds and tables, or spread their house-keeping utensils on lawns and in yards.

When daylight dawned, thousands in the open. By 11:29 a. m. a standstill. Mothers and fathers gathered their children about them and smilingly braved the quake scare as calmly as could be expected under the circumstances.

Police and military dominated the city. Order was being wrought out of confusion. Injured were given expert care at "The Cottage," only undamaged hospital in the city. Red Cross stations were set up at strategic points throughout the quake area. Sandwiches and coffee were free for those without adequate funds.

Picket Business District
The entire business section was picketed by soldiers and sailors. A corps of expert traffic officers from Los Angeles augmented the local constabulary and kept tourists off the highways leading into the city. If there are to be further casualties in Santa Barbara, native sons will head the list.

Seventy-five motorcycle officers from Los Angeles arrived in the city today to help handle traffic and maintain order. The U. S. S. Arkansas steamed into port with 200 additional sailors and marines for patrol duty.

Except during the intermittent tremors, which created confusion anew with each recurrence, the city was calm. A warm sun beat down on a sodden maze of wreckage. The atmosphere was sultry and sinister—ideal "earthquake weather," according to oldest inhabitants.

A careful reckoning of casualties today revealed 13 dead and 23 seriously injured. Approximately 100 have been treated for minor injuries.

Property damage, including that done by recurrent temblors today, totals approximately $25,000,000, a conservative estimate.

Insurance company underwriters arrived here during the day and appraised property losses. A meeting of the insurance men is to be held in Los Angeles tonight to determine payments to policy holders in the quake region.

There was little loss to oil companies operating along the Southern California coast, according to the latest survey. An oil tank of the Associated Oil company at Summerland burst at the first tremor, flooded streets for blocks with inflammable gas. But oil wells generally along the coast, including those built into the sea of Santa Barbara's shores, escaped undamaged.

Thousands of dollars to finance relief and rehabilitation have been donated by civic and welfare sources throughout the state. Plans to rebuild Santa Barbara from its ruins to a city of magnificence again, were already under discussion by leading members of the chamber of commerce.

McAdoo Among Leaders
One of the leaders in the reconstruction program was William Gibbs McAdoo, recent candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. McAdoo owns a large estate here and is prominent in Santa Barbara's civic projects.

"The city of Santa Barbara will come back, bigger and better," McAdoo declared. "It has been more than 100 years since the last serious disaster. The citizens will rebuild Santa Barbara within a year with the aid of the state of California."

McAdoo made a personal survey of the ruins today. He owned considerable property devastated by the quake, but declared he would donate a portion of his personal fortune toward reconstruction of Santa Barbara.

No looting has been reported so far, although jewelry stores and shops of all sorts are without fronts or barriers of any kind. City Manager Munn estimated that $10,000,000 worth of valuables await recovery by owners.

Advices from Los Angeles, 100 miles away, said that all spare parts were at their posts and assisted in keeping as much order as possible throughout the new disaster.

Darkness added increased danger as bricks, debris and the picturesque Spanish cornices that were Santa Barbara's pride, came hurtling down.

The battleship Arkansas arrived

AREA DESCRIBE SCENES AS SHOCKS HIT RESORT CITY

Narrowly escaping death when the walls of the hotel in which he was staying in Santa Barbara collapsed, S. H. Olsen, 111 South Birch street, Santa Ana, returned here last night, with one of the most vivid of the quake stories yet to be told.

The room in his hotel was completely wrecked, one wall falling in, sending plaster and brick down on the bed in which he was sleeping, with such force that the bed was broken. He escaped injury by dashing out of the building just before a giant wall came crashing down on the street behind him.

According to his story, he was spending the night in the Central hotel, on State street, in the heart of the business district. He had left a call for 7 o'clock Monday morning, and stated that he awakened shortly before that time, when a slight quake was felt. Thinking nothing of it, he went back to sleep and was again awakened by a shaking of the building. He remained awake and felt the building quiver several times, before the big shock came.

Plaster Filled Room.
"The first quake felt as though someone were pushing the building along," he said. "Then the big shock came. It seemed as if someone had given the building a push."

"Plaster and dust came down on the bed and filled the room all about me. I didn't know what was the matter, so I jumped out of bed and rushed to the window. Looking out, the whole street (State street) was a mass of debris and the air was laden with dust."

"The building was rocking to and fro, violently, and I thought it would snap any minute. I hurriedly put on all the clothes I saw, and rushed out in the street. Just as I got out on the pavement, I looked up and saw the wall of the hotel cave in. It was the wall which constituted one side of my room."

Olsen stated that the whole town was thrown in an uproar. "The people acted like sheep, they did not know what to do. All wanted to go somewhere and no one knew where to go," he said.

Everyone in Streets.
The town was rocked by one quake after another throughout the morning, and because of this everyone remained in the streets, free from danger of falling walls.

Several of the later quakes, none of which was violent, did no damage, other than shake loose brick walls which were damaged in the big quake, he asserted.

Olsen stated that it is impossible for persons to get into Santa Barbara at this time. The town is under rigid martial law, he said, and sight-seers are being turned back to Ventura.

Olsen said that he had to have a pass signed by Herbert Nunn, city manager, before he could claim his automobile and drive it back to Santa Ana.

LOSE HOME IN SANTA BARBARA.
First of earthquake sufferers to reach Santa Ana, bringing with them details of the terrible disaster which visited beautiful Santa Barbara two days ago, today a mass of ruins—were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Busby and their two daughters, the Misses Beryl and Dorothy Busby.

Accompanying the Busby family from the scene of tragedy were Mrs. Porter, wife of a well known Santa Ana hardware merchant, and her son and daughter.

The Busby family lost their beautiful home, located at De La Vina street and Micheltorena avenue, about three blocks from the Arlington hotel. While the building was not completely destroyed, it will have to be rebuilt to make it fit for occupancy, the owner declared. Another home owned by the Busby's escaped damage.

Busby had a lease on the Neill hotel, located near the railroad station, which was destroyed by the quake.

"The scenes that followed the temblor staggered description—in fact the newspaper writers could not do justice to them. There was no exaggeration," declared Mrs. Busby, setting forth her observations.

"But there was no panic and there were no exhibitions of hysteria. People seemed to take the disaster in a rather philosophical manner, and instead of each person looking out for himself, everyone was trying to help his neighbor."

"Shortly following the quake, rumors were circulated in Santa Barbara that there had been a duplication of the San Francisco disaster in Los Angeles, that the city was in flames and that between 40,000 and 50,000 people had perished."

"If there was any semblance of panic among the people in Santa Barbara, although I did not see any, it must have been caused by

ATTORNEYS FOR WATER DEFENSE
PLAY NEW CARD

A new card was played by the defense today in an eleventh hour attempt to block condemnation of El Capitan dam site by the city of San Diego.

Shortly before noon, after the jury had started to hear valuation testimony, Attorneys Crouch and Sanders, representing Col. Ed Fletcher and the La Brea irrigation district, moved to abate the action on the grounds that all owners of the property involved had not been made parties to the suit. They referred to the estate of the late James A. Murray, deceased partner of Col. Fletcher in the Cuyamaca Water company.

The attorneys, after making the motion, launched into a protracted argument on the point.

That the city expects to show the value of the El Capitan property it wants in this action to be between $5000 and $10,000, was the opening statement today of Attorney T. B. Cosgrove, of city council, in addressing the jury.

The statement brought smiles from the defense attorneys, who recalled the $3,000,000 price set up on the property by its owners.

Cosgrove's valuation, it was apparent, is based upon the limitations to be placed by the court upon issues submitted to the jury. The court has indicated that only the bare value of the land, leaving its possible use for reservoir purposes, may be fixed by the jury.

More proof of the intended restrictions was given when Ed A. Sears, title officer for a San Diego title company, appeared as the first witness before the jury. Sears was not there to testify regarding values. He merely discussed title to the site and immediately contended that the property, not being permitted to testify regarding the defendant's El Monte property or Mission Gorge No. 3.

Photos of Plain
Clothes Men Sold
To Law Violators

POTLAND, Ore., June 30.—A new money making scheme has been uncovered by north end photographers, police here have learned.

Shortly after the appointment of Roy H. Millon as a new member of the plain clothes police vice squad a photographer obtained his picture.

Selling pictures to liquor law violators and habitués of the underworld proved to be a profitable business, and the photographer obtained $5 for each picture.

Police were unable to learn the identity of the photographer. He sold so many pictures, they said, that every crook knew who the plain clothes man was in less than 48 hours after he received his appointment.

these unfounded reports about Los Angeles.

"As soon as communications had been established with Los Angeles through airplanes and messengers dispatched to Ventura, there was a noticeable change in the general attitude of the people."

"But for the disheartening effect of the general devastation, the whole town seemed to be on a general picnic. Here and there lunch car parties were holding forth on lawns and vacant lots with a standing invitation to everybody to have a bite."

Social Distinction Forgotten
"Persons went by in bathing suits and all social distinction and formalities were forgotten for the moment. Multi-millionaires and prominent club women from the exclusive Montecito district were rubbing shoulders with mechanics and stenographers in a common cause—that of relieving suffering and making the best of a bad situation."

SANTA ANA COUPLE
ESCAPES INJURY

A graphic story of the earthquake that rocked Santa Barbara was related here today by Harold O'Donnell, of Santa Ana, who had just reached the stricken city and was driving his automobile through the business section when the first temblor was felt early yesterday morning.

Neither O'Donnell nor his wife, whom he was taking to the seaside city for a vacation, was injured, although he said their car narrowly missed being hit by a shower of brick and falling walls.

"It was the most terrible experience I have ever undergone," O'Donnell said. "I never felt so helpless, so utterly unable to know what to do."

"When the quake came it must have lifted our automobile a foot off the pavement and then set it down, zig-zagging crazily, back on the street. I stopped the machine as quickly as I could. There was a great roaring noise. My machine shook like a leaf on a tree. We got out of the car. My feet felt as if they were going in opposite directions. Walls began to fall and crash. Bricks hailed on all sides of our machine and dust, as thick as heavy fog, arose about us."

"As soon as the temblor stopped we reentered our automobile, maneuvered our way through the streets, which were cluttered with brick and debris. We drove as rapidly as possible out of the city and back to Santa Ana. It was indeed fortunate for us that we were near no large buildings when the quake came."

Will Construct New Seismic Lab

PASADENA, Calif., June 30.—A seismological laboratory, one of the most elaborate in the country, will be established here soon by the California Institute of Technology.

The earthquake detector will be used jointly by the institute and the Mount Wilson observatory.

C. B. Dyer, president of the Alta San Rafael company, has deeded three acres of land to the institute as a site for the proposed laboratory.

The site, according to seismic experts, is ideal for observations. It is on solid rock in the form of an edge. Officials of the California Institute of Technology have been searching months and study various formations for a site of this kind.

According to Arthur H. Fleming, president of the board of trustees, work on the laboratory will begin within the next few weeks. It is to be located in Alisos canyon, and also will be used as a classroom for advanced students of geology and science.

Local Briefs

The Clifton Symphony Orchestra has extended an invitation to the members of the Santa Ana Municipal Band to join in their annual picnic which will be held Wednesday of this week in Orange County park. Supper will be served at 6 p. m. Director Clifton declared that there would be a superb dance orchestra recruited from the Symphony.

L. B. Valla, local district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific company, announced today that his company had resumed operation of its trains over the coast route. Because of earthquake conditions at Santa Barbara yesterday, coast route trains were routed over the valley line.

R. D. Garner, salesman for Chandler's furniture company of Santa Ana for the past six years, will leave next Monday for Redlands where he will take charge of a store. Mr. Garner and baby, Dorothy Irene, will follow Mr. Garner later.

Boy Scouts of America, troop No. 3, will not hold a regular meeting this week, according to announcement made this morning by Scoutmaster Bill Palmer. Many of the boys are at Camp Rokill.

Mrs. F. J. LaBounty, 1324 Durant street, today received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Fred Colbach, at New York City. Mrs. Colbach will be remembered here by a great many Santa Anans as she and her husband passed the winter here three years ago with Mr. and Mrs. LaBounty.

J. C. Farrar, 1052 West Pine street who recently underwent a serious operation at Anaheim hospital, is progressing satisfactorily. Mrs. Farrar has taken an apartment at Anaheim in order to be near her husband.

MISSION SANTA BARBARA HIT BY QUAKE IN 1812, WHEN CAPISTRANO WAS WRECKED

MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 30.—The earthquake which partially destroyed Mission Santa Barbara yesterday morning, was the second which has done extensive damage there within the last 113 years, according to the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, resident pastor, today. Father O'Sullivan today took occasion to call attention to the similarity of the quake yesterday at the Santa Barbara mission and the temblor which wrecked the great stone church here, with the loss of 46 lives in 1812.

SUGGEST BOXES FOR DONATIONS TO CITY BAND

A friend of the Santa Ana Municipal band wrote The Register today suggesting that containers be placed in business houses for receiving small contributions to the fund being raised by the Santa Ana Municipal Band campaign association for support of the musical organization.

"Many are prone to think that their contribution of 25 cents or 50 cents isn't enough to leave in the banks or other places where donations are received," writes the correspondent.

"By placing containers in the business houses everyone would be given an opportunity to give to the band and the entire community would realize the joy of donating something whereby all are benefited."

"The motto, 'save the band,' does not clearly indicate the financial need of the organization and many are just learning the meaning of the motto."

Records of Harry Hanson, treasurer of the association, disclosed that the grand total of contributions stood today at $1710.40. Contributors number 224, a very small percentage of the population of Santa Ana that should be interested in providing the band with funds to maintain the standard it has established. The association will continue to receive contributions as long as there are persons who want to assist in the financing program.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

COUNCIL SENDS CONDOLENCE TO SANTA BARBARA

Routine matters dealing with street repairs, sanitation and public safety, featured the regular council meeting last night in the city hall. In the absence of Mayor J. W. Tubbs, who is away on a vacation, Councilman E. B. Collier presided over the meeting.

The city fathers were not unmindful of the disaster which earlier in the day had overtaken Santa Barbara, and the city attorney was instructed to prepare a message of sympathy to the mayor and people of Santa Barbara, offering such aid as may be needed.

With the approach of hot weather, a considerable portion of the meeting was given over to discussion of sanitary measures and street repairs.

Defective Garbage Cans
Attention was called to the fact that a great number of residence owners are using defective garbage cans, thus endangering public health. It also was brought out that many persons make no effort to comply with the city's sanitary laws, requiring that garbage cans be properly covered.

Following further discussion on the subject, instructions were given the city sanitary inspector to tag all defective garbage cans, and if this warning fails to bring compliance with the law, to cause the arrest of offenders.

To Remove Approaches
Street cleaning was another matter taken up by the city trustees, in which connection complaints were voiced against the growing practice of installing wooden approaches against the curb at places of business. It was asserted that these approaches interfere with the work of mechanical street-sweepers. The street superintendent was instructed to cause removal of all wooden approaches, and cancel all permits for them.

While discussing the improvements of general sanitary conditions in the city, the trustees referred to the city hall plumbing, which, it was stated, needs thorough overhauling. The matter was referred to the city plumbing inspector for report and recommendations.

Take Up Complaints
Stagnant water in the middle of streets, forming breeding places for mosquitoes, received its share of attention from the council, which directed the city engineer and the street commissioner to relieve the situation. Complaints on that score were voiced by several property owners living on North Broadway Park boulevard.

WEST GIVEN MONTH LEAVE OF ABSENCE

A permit to conduct a public dance at 313 East Third street; granting leave of absence to City Attorney Z. B. West, Jr., and awarding of contracts for paving jobs, were among sundry matters taken up at the city council meeting last night.

Councilman George McPhee recommended that the application of J. R. Dysart to operate a dance hall be approved, providing that the concessionaire defrays the expense of having a special policeman stationed at the place.

City Attorney West was granted a month's leave of absence. Attorney Franklin G. West was appointed special deputy city attorney to take charge of the office.

Contracts for paving jobs on North Garnsey, South Van Ness and Borchard avenue, were awarded to Ralph E. Welch, a local contractor.

At the request of Attorney Charles D. Swanner, representing the American Legion, the city council granted $100 for defraying training expenses of the Santa Ana company of the National Guard.

Pass Ordinance Regulating Use Of Firecrackers

An ordinance regulating the use, discharge, sale, possession and custody of fireworks and firecrackers, passed its first reading at the regular session of the city council, held last night in the city hall.

The ordinance, which will become effective after the Fourth of July, this year, provides that no person, firm, company, corporation or association, shall at any time fire, discharge or explode, or cause to be fired, discharged or exploded, any blank cartridge, anvil, cannon, bomb cannon, rocket, firecracker, Roman candle, squib, colored fire, torpedo, mine, torch, or fireworks or firecrackers of any kind whatsoever, or by whatever name known, within the incorporated limits of the city of Santa Ana.

The ordinance also prohibits the custody, possession and sale of such fireworks, except as covered by special permits.

SONORA, Calif., June 30.—The unmarked and neglected grave of J. R. Stoker, immortalized in Mark Twain's "Roughing It," as "Dick Baker," is to be designated by a monument in the Masonic cemetery here.

William R. Gillis, of Sonora, who recently published a book on Mark Twain, in connection with his visit to this section of California, and his brother, Steve Gillis, and C. H. Burden recently visited the cemetery and located the grave of Stoker, an old friend of Gillis.

Subscriptions are now being raised for the erection of a suitable tablet in memorial.

CITY OFFERED WATER SUPPLY WITHOUT COST

Official canvass of the vote last Tuesday in the special water bond election was made last night at the regular meeting of the city council. According to the canvass, 894 votes were cast for the proposition and 1882 votes against it.

In connection with the defeat of the water bonds, a communication was read from Robert E. Brown, real estate broker, representing Brown and Moore, offering the city the use of its water supply free of charge.

No action was taken on the communication, which says, in part:

"Immediately south and east of the city limits, myself and associates own a tract of land upon which we have a well and have installed pumping equipment and distributing lines, the whole at a cost of approximately $25,000. This system is capable of delivering 100 inches of water at a pressure of from 40 to 50 pounds.

"If the city of Santa Ana would care to commence negotiations with us, I believe that an agreement could be made whereby the entire plant would be given to the city without cost—if arrangements could be made which would insure us of a supply sufficient for our needs at a price equivalent to our present cost."

The writer added negotiations also could be entered into with adjoining property owners, who, like himself, have a surplus of water, which could be used to considerable advantage by the city.

Police News

George Brown, Los Angeles, convicted in federal court there for violation of the Harrison narcotic laws, was brought to the Orange county jail, last night, to begin sentence.

R. D. Goetz and G. A. Heilger, residents of Newport, were arrested last night, on a charge of breach of the peace. Both spent last night in the Orange county jail. Heilger was arrested here a week ago, on a drunk charge, for which he was fined, and was in the hands of the police several months ago, in connection with a holdup.

G. H. Wild, San Juan Capistrano, reported to the sheriff's office that an automobile belonging to him was stolen in the mission city, last night.

The tires from an automobile belonging to G. Allender, 1029 North Flower street, were stolen last night, according to a report made to the police by Allender.

A warning sent out by Chief of Police Claude Rogers, to the effect that arrests would follow if youths do not stop shooting firecrackers on the city streets, has failed to curb the practice, according to reports at the police station. Three reports on firecracker shooting were made to police yesterday.

The offer failed to impress the city fathers, however, and the communication was ordered filed for future reference.

Find Beer Bottle Floating On Lake Since Early 90's

LAKEPORT, Calif., June 30.—Clear Lake, on the shores of which this city stands, is the largest fresh water body in California, but

Lake county has no railroad communication with the outside world which explains why the following story could be true:

In 1892 three local boys, enjoying the day on the lake, had a few bottles of beer with them—it was legal then.

For a prank, one wrote a note, asking the finder to notify their parents they were in distress on the lake after an accident.

Progress

Two recent developments have focused public attention on Graham Brothers Trucks as never before.

One was the sweeping price reductions of May 15th, ranging from $80 to $160.

The other was Graham Brothers ascendancy to leadership by building more 1½ ton trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, during the first quarter of 1925, and by achieving second position in the 1 ton and 1½ ton fields combined.

Progress such as this deserves public attention—and eliminates all doubt as to the logical truck to buy!

AN OPERATION RECOMMENDED

Avoided by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Cal.—"I cannot give too much praise to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me. My mother gave it to me when I was a girl 14 years old, and since then I have taken it when I feel run down or tired. I took it for three months before my two babies were born for I suffered with my back and had spells as if my heart was affected, and it helped me a lot. The doctors told me at one time that I would have to have an operation. I thought I would try 'Pinkham's,' as I call it, first. In two months I was all right and had no operation. I firmly believe 'Pinkham's' cured me. Every one who saw me after that remarked that I looked so well. I only have to take medicine occasionally, not but I always keep a couple of bottles by me. I recommend it to women who speak to me about their health. I have also used your Sanative Wash and like it very much."—Mrs. E. GOULD, 4000 East Side Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal.

Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised.

Kiwanians Entertain With Dancing After Park Supper

Flora and Fauna, as famous in their way as the Gold Dust Twins, were much in evidence at Orange county park last night where the Kiwanis club staged one of its inimitable parties for the benefit of the Kiwanis. Flora was especially beautiful although Fauna was a trifle more shy and seemed to linger down near the deer park.

Anyway the Kiwanis folk had a wonderful time, beginning with arrival at the park and the formation at once of rival ball nine. The Benedicts lined up to play the Bachelors and a snappy game followed although the umpire, being a Bachelor by birth and a Benedict by marriage, refused to make a definite decision so that nobody knows who won. However the game was sufficient to give everybody a glorious appetite for baked Virginia ham, sweet potatoes, Spanish beans, salad and coffee topped off by cherry pie, which was served by the direction of W. K. Duffy.

Folk lingered in friendly little groups, following the supper hour, until George R. Wells, Kiwanis president, announced a series of two-minute talks in the pavilion, and curiosity on the part of women as to what their husbands could say in two minutes, took the crowd swaying through the opened doors. President Wells called upon various members, his like lightning, falling in the most unexpected places.

B. R. Ford was the first and made a most pleasing little talk in which some of the Kiwanis principles were outlined. In rapid succession the president called upon W. V. Whitson, Bobbie Fernandez, Robert Speed, John Estes Jr., the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, J. C. Horton, William G. Knox and others who made brief little talks as well as they were able in face of the continued "rooting" from the sidelines.

With the arrival of the club orchestra, dancing opened with the grand march led by Major M. Burr Wellington and Miss Margaret White. When the leaders became so involved in their own intricate steps that they could never have wound their way out of the maze, the march broke and dancing began.

The music was exceptionally good—selections were of the latest and played with a smoothness and rhythm that made dancing a delight. Unusual features were introduced in addition to the customary Paul Jones and cymbals. A lemon dance in which potatoes were used in lieu of lemons, was a hilarious success, but the time dance was quite the best of all. Each husband provided his wife with a dime ere he joined his brother at the west side of the pavilion as the Kiwanettes remained at the east side. As the music began, the wise wives never waited to see what the dimes were for. They found out at the ice cream cone stand. There was a stampede of men from the pavilion at once and so completely deserted was the dancing floor that the orchestra left and even now no one knows what the original plan of the dance was!

The final special was a fox-trot in which the lady was awarded an order for a bottle of the finest toilet water at the E. T. Ma-teer drug store. Miss Dolly Boyle, dancing with Arnold Peck, was the fortunate winner and the two then put on an exhibition dance to show the interested crowd just what won the prize.

However, in the midst of their gayety, the Kiwanians never lost sight of the fact that theirs is, primarily, a service club. So when the president spoke upon the disaster that yesterday overtook Santa Barbara, it was with enthusiasm that the members voted that the sum of $100 be placed at the disposal of the Kiwanis club of the northern city and that a telegram to that effect be dispatched at the earliest possible hour.

In every respect it was a successful evening, one of the most delightful social affairs ever sponsored by the service club, and guests were loud in their praise of the president, George R. Wells and his efficient committee, Cotton Mather, A. H. T. Taylor and Nat H. Neff, whose plans worked to such a successful conclusion.

Such a bevy of charming girls and manly youths as formed the wedding party at the Ship-Hays nuptials last Thursday evening, June 25! Here are the members of the party taken just preceding the ceremony at the First Baptist church where the pastor, the Rev. Otto S. Russell officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony.

Miss Shipp, one of the loveliest brides of the season, is shown in the center of the group between her father, Claude Shipp, who gave her in marriage, and the bridegroom, Rolla Hays Jr. With her is dainty little Elizabeth Hays carrying the basket of flower petals which were later strewn in the pathway of the bride.

The bridesmaids in the soft pastel-toned frocks of georgette, were unusually charming, their costumes being brought into complete harmony by the becoming little gold lace hats, all exactly alike, and the great cluster of deep pink sweet peas which each carried. In the picture, reading from left to right, they are Miss Annie Laurie Hays, Miss Kathleen Trago, Miss Anna Grace McElree and Miss Miriam Baird.

In lovely contrast to the pastel units of their dress were the golden motifs suggested by the bridesmaid group, by choosing an exquisite creation of gold lace and gold tissue, making her a scintillant bit of loveliness from head to foot. Miss Head's position of maid of honor was a natural one as she has been particularly close to the bride during their girlhood days at Santa Ana high school, and a few weeks ago gave the smart little party which announced the betrothal to their circle of friends.

The other members of the party are Roy Shipp, best man; "Buddy" Williamson, Eugene Hays, James Eudaley and Raymond Bradstreet. The latter is the fiancé of Miss Annie Laurie Hays and their wedding is anticipated as an event of the near future by their friends.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Hays left immediately after the ceremony for a honeymoon which (as their friends have since learned) took them to Catalina. However they were welcomed today upon their return and are now at home at the pretty Eastside avenue home which was one of their wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Lutes and Jeanette and Harold Lutes; Mr. James Hughes, Misses Jean Battersby, Ruth Goodrich, Inez Hickman, Dorothy Hurd, Cleo Bowers and Janet Osborn; Mrs. George C. Post and Millard Beemer, Santa Ana; Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Stauffacher and sons Robert and Charles Claremont; Mrs. May Harkness, sister of the groom and her little daughter from Northfield, Minn.; Herbert E. Gaskill, Mrs. W. C.

Marked by extreme simplicity in all save floral decorations was the wedding Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock of William M. Burge, son of E. D. Burge, of East First street, to Miss Mabel Smith, a charming 20-year-old girl who reached Santa Ana late last week just in time for the Sunday nuptials.

The stately rooms of the Burge home were decked with a variety of flowers as greeting to the bride, salmon and cream tones predominating. Especially lovely were the appointments of the drawing-room where the ceremony took place and where massed gladioli were used. Against the softly tinted flowers of the background, Miss Smith, in a girlish little gown of peach crepe Roma, and Mr. Burge took their places before the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

The impressively simple ceremony brought to a culmination, a romance beginning over a year ago when Miss Smith and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Smith of Benton, Ill., girl who reached Santa Ana late last week just in time for the Sunday nuptials.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests assembled in the dining-room where at a charmingly arranged illuminated table, a five-course dinner was served. The final course offering a bride's cake whose snowy surface bore countless exquisite white roses.

Places were indicated for the happy guests of honor, the new Mr. and Mrs. Burge, the host, Mr. Burge sr., his three daughters, Miss Vivian Burge of the home, Mrs. Edna Payne and her two small sons, John Richard and Robert Edwin, and Mrs. Charles P. Ross together with Mr. Ross of Los Angeles, whose wedding was an event of the early spring; Miss Dorothy Bell and Mrs. Alice McMurtry, an aunt of the family whose home is in San Francisco but who is domiciled for the present at the Burge home.

It was the plan of Mr. and Mrs. William Burge to leave Sunday night for a motor honeymoon, but unfortunately the rush of social obligations preceding the bride's departure from her eastern home coupled with the fatigue of the long trans-continental journey and the bustle of preparing for a wedding immediately upon her arrival, proved too much for her and she was sent to bed under a doctor's care. Although she is recovering nicely now, the wedding trip has been deferred until later in the season and the young people will remain at the Burge home until after the middle of July when they will be established in their own place in Los Angeles and Mr. Burge will resume his business activities in that city.

Smart Dinner Given As House-warming In New Home

One of the happiest of the many delightfully intimate affairs that characterize the summer and its more informal entertaining, was the dinner given by the Stanley Clems to celebrate their occupancy of the beautiful new home which they so recently completed at 2405 Halotrope Drive.

The long drawing-room reflecting the Spanish influence both in design and decorative treatment, was ablaze with var-colored flowers as were the small tables arranged in the dining-room to accommodate the guests. Dinner was a most enjoyable function, conversation veering from subjects discussed at the individual tables to those in which everybody joined amidst gales of merriment.

After the final course the hosts took their guests to Long Beach where the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing at the Cinderella Ballroom.

The merry-makers were composed of members of the Thursday Luncheon club with the husbands as special guests. The guest-list included Messrs. Stanley Long, Nat Neff, Melvin Trickey, Harvey Gardner, Charles Swanner, Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Pin-dell, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Burkett, the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clem and Mrs. Clem's mother, Mrs. Long.

Those who make fair promises should have good memories.

FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

ESTABLISHMENT OF BEACONS AT PORT ORDERED

NEWPORT BEACH, June 30.—Beacon lights are to be placed from the outer entrance of Orange county harbor at Newport to inside the bay, it was learned through official announcement of the United States marine service.

About ten beacons will be needed, according to Captain Antares of the marine station here.

The lights will be stationed on both sides of the entrance to guide ships into the bay. Construction work is expected to begin by July 15.

The government move was seen as a significant step here in furnishing federal aid for the harbor. This is the first step that the government has undertaken in equipping the harbor for the protection of ships, it was declared.

Pythians to Have Canyon Ceremony

FULLERTON, June 30.—With members from over the entire state participating, sunrise services of the Knights of Pythias, who will confer degrees, will be held in a natural amphitheater in Brea canyon at 5 a. m. on July 4. The Pythians of convention district No. 31, which comprises lodges located in Santa Ana, Downey, Whittier, Brea, Bellflower, Norwalk, Anaheim, Fullerton and Tustin, are sponsoring the gathering.

Invitations have been extended to lodges as far north as San Luis Obispo, and as far south as San Diego, and a large attendance of lodge members is expected.

14-Year-Old Boy To Enter College

BERKELEY, Calif., June 30.—"I want the world to know I'm a regular fellow," declared Matthew Marsh, 14, when it became known that he will enter the University of California during the fall semester.

"Outside with that advice stuff," he countered, when asked to say something that might help other young people to enter university at his age.

Matthew entered school when 6 years old, but started in the third grade. He was graduated from grammar school in four years, but took the regulation four years in high school, explaining "I wanted more time to play."

"I like to read. At 4 I could read a story book through," he offered as explanation for his rapid school advance.

ICE BOXES RARE

REFINING PLANT IS STARTED AT NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, June 30.—Trial operations of the refining plant of the Delaney Oil company, on the South Basin Oil company's lease west of Newport Beach, were conducted yesterday in a test of the plant.

The test was entirely successful, it was declared by officials. J. S. Tremayne, president of the Continental Development and Reduction company, with other officials of the refining unit were present when operations were tried.

Within the next three days the refining plant will be running at full capacity of 250 barrels daily. The supply of the five oil wells on the South Basin Oil company lease will be taken and handled until another refining unit can be constructed.

An advantage is secured by the plant here, it is claimed, due to the application of a new system of refining. In the operation, the carbon is first taken from the crude oil and then products are separated in refining. This prevents the refinery from becoming clogged with carbon necessitating shutting down for cleaning. Other plans that are not equipped with the new system are forced to operate two refineries.

WOODEN GUN IS USED IN HOT BURGLAR CHASE AT MISSION; INTRUDER FLEES OVER WALL

MISSION SAN JUAN CAPIS-TRANO, June 30.—All the lights in the Mission of San Juan Capistrano were suddenly turned on last night at 2 o'clock when the alarm was given that a burglar was paying a visit to the ancient building.

The staff of the Mission reside in bungalows, a little way removed from the old stone building of the padres. Here, upstairs in an old-fashioned room, Marita Belfort and her mother were fast asleep when mysterious footsteps climbing the winding staircase aroused them.

They lay perfectly still as they heard the man approaching and presently the handle of their door was slowly turned. This was too much for the nerves of Marita, who sprang from her bed and rushed to the window calling loudly for Johnny, Frank, Sebastian, William, Gregory and Celso.

It was Sebastian Maas, who answered her frantic appeal for help and he appeared at his door, demanding to know what the trouble was.

Marita saw him standing in the moonlight and called out: "Quick, quick get your gun. There is a burglar in the Mission." Unfortunately Sebastian had left his pistol in another part of the mission, but his quick wit soon solved his difficulty.

He jumped back into his room, donned a pair of trousers, seized one of the wooden guns used in the past and set out after the intruder.

With the most sincere hope that his orders would not be obeyed, he advanced across the old patio aiming his property gun and crying aloud:

"Stop or I will fire."

By this time the Mission was glowing with the lights that Marita had ventured to creep downstairs to turn on. Sebastian saw a crouching figure creep slowly by the pageant grand stand and valiantly pursued aiming a wicked gun at the intruder.

The pursuit was swift but short. The man disappeared over the adobe walls of the ground.

Sebastian is a hero today at San Juan Capistrano.

Garnet Holme, producer of the pageant, questioned as to the knowledge of these incidents said: "I always make it a rule to remain fast asleep during any attack by burglars. I am very glad that the intruder was dismissed so rapidly. It would have been a great blow to the pageant on Sunday if he had made away with the bull we use in the bull fight."

Farm News

Raymond Ellis, formerly assistant farm advisor in Imperial county, who recently was named to a similar position in Orange county, started today to familiarize himself with his new duties and with the various roads in this section. Ellis does not officially assume his duties until August 1, the extension service having granted him a month's vacation. Ellis and his family have taken a residence at 1502 French street.

According to Ellis, Imperial county farmers are experiencing their greatest year. The cantaloupe crop will total 11,000 and possibly 12,000 cars, he said. The watermelon, lettuce and barley crops are also excellent, he stated.

Orange county persons who complain of the heat should go to Imperial valley for a day, declared Ellis. A government thermometer located in the shade, reached 117 degrees a few days ago, he claimed. Ellis was commander of the American Legion post at El Centro the past year. He has been in Imperial county for five years. He was with the La Habra Citrus association for 11 months and prior to that, was engaged in extension work in Tulare county. Ellis' duties in Orange county will include, citrus, truck crop, club and drainage work.

Urge Poultry Licenses

Licensing of all poultry peddlers was advocated at a meeting attended by poultry representatives of the seven southern counties in the Hall of Records building here June 27. The Los Angeles delegation was instructed to request the district attorney's office to draw up a proposed law which would make it necessary for all persons in the handling of poultry to have a license. If a suitable measure is adopted, the other six counties will be asked to adopt similar laws. The poultrymen present went on record as favoring continuation of the breeding work being done at Pomona.

Poultrymen To Dine

Orange county poultry will hold a dinner meeting tonight at Ketter's cafe, starting at 6:30 o'clock. Speakers will include E. C. Hogsett, Pomona, secretary of the Accredited Breeders and Hatchery project; George W. Masterson, La Verne, an inspector for the project; and Cornell G. Ross, Los Angeles, formerly president of the Poultrymen's cooperative Milling association.

'Dollar Day Wife?' 'I Should Say Not'

OROVILLE, Calif., June 30.—Cupid was not asleep when Justice of the Peace Harry S. Hills joined Oroville's dollar bargain day, but his hands were tied.

Justice Hills offered to marry any couple free and also furnish the first dollar toward furnishing their home.

A prospective couple showed up. They were told of the special offer. "Henry, I should say not. Why for the rest of my life they might call me 'the bargain wife!'" exclaimed the girl, and they went away.

Colored Man Is Missing After Attending Church

FULLERTON, June 30.—George Brown, local negro, is deeply religious, according to his wife, but she declared today that religion was evidently "one too much for the man," after an excursion to a Los Angeles church on Sunday.

Mrs. Brown told police that she went to church with him, and during the service, he suddenly arose, and walked out. He returned a little later, she declared, and again left, after discovering that a woman had taken his seat.

When church was finished, Brown had completely disappeared, and his anxious wife enlisted aid of the local police, who have failed, as yet, to find any trace of the man.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL NEWS OF ORANGE

ORANGE, June 30.—Miss Helen Gillogly and Miss Cleona Strickland took their English examinations for entrance to Southern Branch of the University of California Saturday. They were accompanied to Los Angeles by Mrs. J. H. Widowsen, Mrs. Sherman Gillogly and Miss Elaine Smith. Miss Dora Mulvane accompanied the party to Orange, returning to her home in Corona Sunday evening.

The following were among those who attended the hill climb at Laguna Beach: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mayginnies and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Cornelison, Carl Rickers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coates and daughter, Orange, Will Coates, Arthur Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Randolph and Mrs. Florence Stoddard.

Miss Avis Middleton of Long Beach entertained with tea for Miss Minnie Dingle of Kansas City, Mo. Those attending from Orange were Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Swayze, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Swayze and Miss Mary Dora Shepherd.

Over Sunday guests at the Sunshine apartments were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Whiteway of Glendale, E. Cushman of Culver City, Mr. and Mrs. George Went and two children of Glendale, and W. E. Taylor and two children of Centralia, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strobridge, 393 North Shaffer street, had as their guests over the week end their nieces and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Schroeder of Los Angeles and Miss Alvin Phillips of Colorado. Miss Phillips will spend the summer in California.

Mrs. Mattie Houston and daughter, Elsie, of Corsicana, Texas, are visiting for several weeks at the home of Mrs. Margaret Scott of North Grand street. Mrs. Houston is the librarian at Corsicana.

John Maas and brother, William Maas, returned Friday night from a fishing trip to the beautiful country above Silver Lake, near Bishop.

Mrs. A. J. Sanders of North Grand street, who has been visiting her son, Frank Sanders of Ingleside, has returned home for a short time.

Thomas Sweifelt and family were guests at dinner Sunday evening at the W. S. Hall home in Downey.

Mr. and Mrs. George Liming sr. and family of Olive are spending a few weeks in Pasadena.

M. L. Bastardo of North Pine street, who is working in Redlands, spent the week end with his family.

Adolph, Carl and Albert Boesch attended the hill climb at Laguna Beach Sunday.

NO LAW PROHIBITS SIDEWALK DRIVING

EUREKA, Calif., June 30.—The city of Eureka has just discovered that it has no law prohibiting the driving of automobiles on the sidewalks.

The city's old charter, approved in 1900, only prohibits driving of animals on the walks.

"Just try and do it," the police said when informed of the discovery.

Alleged Slayer Paints In Jail

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., June 30.—A. Axelsson, awaiting trial on the charge of murdering his mother-in-law on April 28, employs his spare time in jail painting marine views.

Axelsson is a graduate of the University of Sweden and was a postgraduate student in a German university.

The killing is alleged to have taken place during a quarrel with his wife, when she refused reconciliation with him.

EL CENTRO.—Thousands of Imperial valley residents will leave for the mountains or coast during the Fourth of July holiday.

Conforming with the agreement signed by the members of the El Centro chamber of commerce, practically all business houses will close down for the holiday. This agreement, according to Secretary Carmichael, includes six nationally recognized holidays, and was adopted several weeks ago.

Because the Fourth of July comes on Saturday this year, it will be possible for business men to leave the valley on Friday evening and return the following Monday morning, thereby enjoying three cool nights. There will be no public celebration in this city, and it is expected that the greater part of Imperial valley's population will take advantage of the holiday to escape for a while the hot weather of this season of the year.

DEL MAR—At a meeting of the San Diego district chamber of commerce, J. B. Lippincott, civil engineer, civic authority and pioneer San Diego county developer, predicted that in the next 10 or 15 years there would be 100,000 people living in northern San Diego county. Lippincott, who is thoroughly familiar with the far-famed rivers of both France and Italy, with the past and present citrus fruit conditions of these countries and the ideals of their people, said that San Diego county has not only a finer climate than either of these old world nations, but that here, in Southern California, we have almost countless orange and lemon orchards which far surpass anything he saw in all of his travels through the most successful and the best cared for sections of France and Italy. "San Diego county," said Lippincott, "with its truly wonderful coast line, its great stretch of sandy beach, its glorious, semi-tropic climate and its wealth of scenic grandeur, should and can be developed into one of the most wonderful—if not the finest—recreational and profit-producing communities in all the world."

LOS ANGELES—A revolution in the presentation of Oriental dramas by the invasion of western customs has been noted at a Chinese theater here. An American jazz orchestra has replaced an aggregation of native stringed instruments and Chinese girls are chosen to play feminine roles in preference to male impersonators.

Managers of the Chinese playhouses explain that the innovations are necessary since the younger generation of Chinese, familiar with American methods of staging productions, demand a stimulation of the centuries. If methods of Oriental presentation.

PRESNO—When Dave Paladini, hot and tired from his day's labor in the fields, pumped himself a dipper full of water to quench his thirst, he swore a large, round and well-enunciated oath. His next move was to give one of his hired hands an adequate "bawling out" for putting too much oil on the well pump.

Then he set about the task of scraping the oil from the pump and the pump pipes. But the oil still continued to taint the well water and Dave was unable to quench his dusty throat without tasting it, all of which angered him to a little degree. In his search for the seat of the trouble the farmer discovered that minute gas bubbles were coming up from the soil at the bottom of the well. As they reached the surface they burst leaving a tiny film of oil on the top of the water. With his pardon, O. E. Harvey, the investigation was continued until now the men believe they have oil and gas in paying quantities on their land.

ORANGE COUNTY PRETTIEST GIRL TO BE PICKED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 30.—The most beautiful bathing girl in Orange county will be selected at the first annual Orange county bathing parade at Huntington Beach July 4. The winner of the event will be presented with a cash prize of $50. More than $300 in cash and merchandise is offered the winners of the various divisions of the beauty pageant to be staged here Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the chamber of commerce.

Among the entries who will appear at the Orange county parade are Gertrude Bryan, "Miss Anaheim;" Lazette Gamel, Santa Ana; Frances Lichty, Fullerton; Jo Ann Fairfield, "Miss Balboa;" Annie Butterworth, Balboa; Dorothy Mayhew, "Miss Santa Ana;" Clarice Higgins, Thelma Schorn, Ruth Powell, Estella Morrison, Katherine Walker and Ted Mitchell, Huntington Beach.

Strictly County Affair.

The parade has been made strictly an Orange county affair, and many high school girls from various cities in the county will be seen in the parade. Chambers of commerce in the various towns have been asked to select a girl to represent their city in the parade. It is expected that a list of between 30 and 40 girls will compete for the prizes.

Girls in Orange county who are interested in entering the parade have been requested to write or telephone J. A. Armitage, secretary of the chamber of commerce at Huntington Beach.

The entry list today stood with a number of the leading bathing beauties of Orange county among the number. The large number of cash prizes being offered is a big attraction to the beauties of the county. A purse of $35 will be presented the winner of second place in the parade, with $25 for the girl judged to be the third best looking and best formed girl in the county. Three special prizes of $15 each will be awarded to the prettiest girl, to the best formed girl, and to the girl wearing the most attractive bathing suit. Ten prizes of $10 each are to be presented to ten girls selected by the judges. Other cash prizes, as well as numerous merchandise prizes, presented by local merchants, will be given.

All girls who enter the parade will be supplied with a free dinner at the Obarr banquet hall. Following the lunch the girls will be given the freedom of the Antlers club here where several apartments have been secured for dressing rooms. A course for the parade is to be laid out this week. The girls will be taken in automobiles from the Antlers club by way of Fifth street.

At the judges' stand the girls will receive their prizes and will pose for pictures. Representatives of motion picture companies will be present, according to officials of the Woodmen of the World who are holding their annual week end picnic here July 4 and 5. The girls will then march down Main street to the pier to the band stand where they will parade for a short time. They will return to the Antlers club by way of Fifth street.

Veterans Meet at Fullerton Park

FULLERTON, June 30.—Members of the Orange County Veterans' association met in the Fullerton city park on Saturday in their annual gathering, with Mabel Kunz, vice-president, presiding in the absence of Jason B. Root, the president.

Approximately 300 persons were present at the meeting, and enjoyed the picnic lunch, and entertainment offered by the local veterans. The next meeting place was agreed upon as Huntington Beach.

Luscious DUMPLINGS to crown the meal

King Edward, eating his first apple dumpling, asked how they got the apple in.

But that isn't what troubles the housewife. She wants to know how to get the shortening in.

FLUFFO solves her problem. For FLUFFO is always creamy, and mixes in easily and thoroughly without a lot of stirring and beating.

Put it to the test in this recipe! You'll discover a new satisfaction in the making—and in the eating—of these delicious dumplings.

Baked Apple Dumplings
Sift 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar together. Rub in 4 tablespoons FLUFFO, add 1/2 cup milk gradually, using knife to mix. Roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut in 4-inch squares and on each place a tablespoon chopped sweetened apples. Fold over edges. Press together, place folded side down on greased baking pan, bake 30 min. in moderate oven, 350°-400° F.

Interesting Academic Discussion of Bonds Elections Invoked by Santa Ana's Recent Experience

Editor of the Register.—On Wednesday I arrived in Santa Ana on a short visit. That day, I picked up a copy of the Register stating that a water bonds election had failed to carry. It happens that, for ten years, I specialized in putting over bonds elections, during which time, from hard experience, certain facts not generally recognized by many earnest and industrious workers for community development, came to my attention.

The first is that every bonds election defeat, in California, has a far, though temporary, effect all over the state, for bonds elections are keenly followed by bankers, chambers of commerce, and business organizations everywhere.

The second is that there is no earthly reason why a bonds election should fail to carry provided sufficient time and trouble be taken to get the proposal before the people in a true light. Few realize that eighty-five per cent of the voters depend on others for their opinions, and that ninety days at least are needed for the average voter to get his wits sharpened by contact with some business mind.

Visits to forty different countries have convinced me that the wisdom of this world, such as it is, lies in the business element, and that among the world's business men, the American business man—whatever his actual limitations—reigns supreme. Remember that the one factor Germany failed properly to estimate, in the late war, was the wisdom and ability of the American business mind, which actually was the deciding issue in winning the war.

I mention this because experience has taught me that no bonds issue should be submitted to the electorate unless it has the support of every business organization in the city or county. There might be an occasional exception, but that is the general rule.

Further than this, it is a serious and expensive mistake to hold a bonds election without utilizing the usual machinery for getting out the vote. The recent bonds election in Santa Ana cost the taxpayer $3500, and it is fair to assume that $1500 more was spent by individuals. With full knowledge of all the facts in the case, can anyone truthfully say that this $5000 was not thrown away? I have known $20,000 to be spent on each of several bonds elections any one of which, with any judgment at all, could easily have carried, for bond issues are so necessary that finally they always carry.

Another thing to remember is that, lacking the personal or individual equation, the vote at a bond election is always small; a 50 per cent vote is exceptional, a 40 per cent vote unusual, a 30 per cent vote about the average. At four bonds elections in the city of Riverside, for a city hall, before the bonds finally went over the top, the percentage of three defeats ran, 12, 27 and 52 per cent.

My own opinion is that no bonds election should be attempted without first securing the signatures of two-thirds of the voters on the Great Register. Far better spend $10,000 on one election, than $20,000, or $40,000, or even $80,000, on three or four elections.

Again, in a bond election, there must be no nonsense or humbug. The voters must be trusted absolutely, and everyone should be encouraged to speak out in open meeting. For my part, unless every paper of any prominence were back of a bond issue, I should not care to be connected with such an election.

In a recent bond election in Glendale, for much needed funds to enlarge the high school, the editor of one prominent paper was credited or charged with the defeat. I did not know his mind, but judged, as an actual fact, that he keenly sensed defeat and picked the winning side. That defeat was totally unnecessary, and caused by lack of experience in handling such events.

It is a very good rule never to offer advice unthought, but having broken that rule many times, in a long life, I may be considered immune from the usual consequences. Therefore, if, by a vote of 2 to 1, the voters of Santa Ana have put aside the advice of an eminent engineer, I think it most unwise to even mention a repetition of the late defeat. Nor does it seem probable that the Santa Ana electorate are likely to favor a bonds issue for any further degree of water development.

There seems, however, to be a general impression abroad that a plan for providing additional water and storage facilities to meet a dangerous fire hazard should immediately and seriously be considered.

I have just returned from a month's absence in Central and Northern California. On Sunday last I was again driven over the burned area in Berkeley, where 700 homes disappeared in smoke in a few hours one September day two years ago. The week before I went over a burned area on Mount Veeder, in Napa county, where a dozen farmers were driven from their homes and vineyards by fire on the same afternoon. At the same moment a fire broke out in the brush country lying between Glendale and Flintridge, and with my own eyes I saw the city of Glendale threatened with destruction from exactly the same cause, a thing that would certainly have happened had not a high wind fallen at a very opportune moment.

What would be the result if, one autumn afternoon, a combination of high wind, a fire and a breakage in the pumping plant brought a serious conflagration to the city of Santa Ana? Would it not be wise at least to prepare for such a possibility? I can at this moment see my old friend, whom I have met for many years at many meetings, rise from his seat with the announcement that he is a taxpayer and that, in his humble judgment, the moment is scarcely ripe for any further burden being put on the class he so faithfully represents.

To him I reply, that never in the history of the world was the time so ripe as for the citizens of Santa Ana to encourage any form of water conservation. I have the authority of President Graves of the great Farmers and Merchants National bank of the city of Los Angeles for the statement that the year 1924 was the most prosperous ever known in the state of California. Mr. Graves says that the city of Los Angeles increased in population by 50,000 in that time, thereby maintaining its average of 1000 per week, which has been the rule for 25 years. Mr. Graves further states that the bank clearings and postal receipts in that city in 1924 exceeded those of 1923, and that 40 industries were started, on an average, every month, while building permits totaling $150,000,000 were taken out in the twelve months. Moreover, he states that never in the history of the state were agricultural, horticultural or dairy enterprises so prosperous.

An odd thing happened about two months ago. My son, returning to Glendale, where I live, from a visit to an adjoining county reported that a Glendale man had been abroad reporting a tale of woe as follows: That every bank in Glendale was about to close, that bread lines formed every other house in the city was vacant.

Investigation proved that every Glendale bank had more money on deposit than it knew what to do with, and was seeking borrowers; that no one was really idle; that only very old or very new houses were vacant; that building permits were totaling $800,000 per month; and I finally unearthed this singular fact, that no one of my acquaintances knew of anyone who was really hard up in the city of Glendale.

The nearest approach to poverty I could learn of was a man who, for several years, had sharpened my lawn mower. He arrived one day in a good car; was well dressed; had money in his pocket; described to me his real estate holdings, and finally confessed that times were so bad he intended to leave for Florida. I concluded that he would use his bank savings to pay for the trip to Florida, and would mortgage his real estate, in a few months, to return to Glendale where he could make an excellent living. Like thousands of others, he had got things out of proportion in 1923, and was imagining things that had never happened. I fully believe the same condition described above will be found in Santa Ana, at this moment.

of the picture. In 1890, when I first visited Los Angeles county, the population was less than that now found in Orange county. In 35 years that population has grown to 2,100,000. Is there any reason whatever why Orange county in 35 years should not have as many people living within its boundaries as Los Angeles county has now? The three factors that have favored Los Angeles county the most are climate, good luck and sheer enterprise. Am I right in believing that those three factors both today and in the future are to be the rule rather than the exception in the growth and development of the city of Santa Ana and the county of Orange? JAMES T. VAN RENSSLAER, 1502 French St. June 26, 1925.

Motorist Chops Head Off Snake

THE DALLES, Ore., June 30.—L. B. McDonald, traveling salesman, had the thrill of knowing that the rattle under the hood of his automobile was not the engine—but a rattlesnake.

The reptile was seen by McDonald while he was motoring into Tygh valley. It had seven rattles. He stopped to kill it, but it crawled into his automobile.

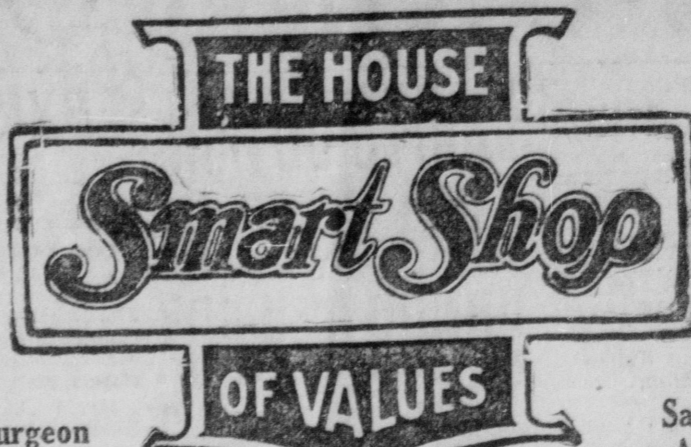

McDonald drove into Maupin for help. When a service station attendant gingerly lifted the hood the reptile was found coiled around the engine block, but its head had been neatly severed by the fast flying fan.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard-White, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it has best immediately after it is prepared.

BOY SCOUTS' CORNER

OFFICIAL GIVES PRAISE TO BOY SCOUT'S LODGE

With the opening of Camp RoKila last Wednesday, the new swimming pool, which has been under construction since 1922, was informally dedicated by the Boy Scouts within three minutes after their arrival in camp. While the day was cloudy, with the result that there had been no sun to warm the water, every scout was greatly refreshed from his ice cold dip in the swimming pool.

W. F. Palmer, scoutmaster of troop 3, Santa Ana, in speaking of his trip to RoKila, said: "The wonders of RoKila can never be told in words sufficiently expressive to do full justice to the appreciation which scouts, parents, and scout officers owe to the service clubs of Orange county, for their keen foresight in selecting that wonderful place in the San Bernardino Mountains, which is the summer home of the Orange county Boy Scouts."

"Three days in camp was but an aggravation and I could not help but envy the youths who were going to stay two weeks."

"For me the air, water and scenery, and for the boys in addition, the hikes, drills, discipline, etc., all of which, and for all of whom, nothing could be finer."

"I have been hearing of RoKila since its first opening and have been urged to visit it for two seasons past, but one thing and then another have prevented, until upon the opening day of the present season, curiosity got the better of me, and in the scout speed wagon with scouts from Huntington Beach and from my own troop, I made the trip and, like Caesar I came, I saw, I (was) conquered."

"For three years the boys have been digging and hauling dirt and rocks for a plunge, and the season of 1925 sees the work completed with an outdoor swimming pool, 32 by 56 feet and from four to nine feet deep with pure mountain water running in all the time. As for myself, well, I'm a little too old to get the kick out of ice water that I might have some years ago. I could, however, enjoy the showers which also are out of doors but which could be had as one preferred, hot, cold or medium."

"Friday morning I started on a hike by myself and in my wandering ran upon the Fullerton Boy Scout camp. This is separate from the Orange county camp, having been built by Troop 1 of Fullerton before the organization of the county council. Found a leader and 11 boys here and accepted from them a challenge for an indoor ball game to be played in the afternoon."

"They arrived in due time, 12 strong, in a Ford runabout, and amid claps of thunder and drops of rain, as good a nine-inning game of indoor ball was played as I have ever witnessed. After the game a dip in the plunge was enjoyed by all, using for the first time the new 15-foot oak spring board which Dana Lamb and his scouts erected during the forenoon."

Scouts Build Home For Destitute Man

One of the neatest, most complete little country homes in Dallas county, Tex., has been built by Boy Scouts. The owner is Dad Wisdom, 80, true friend of the scouts.

A year or two ago Dad gave all his property, a 200 acre farm, to Dallas scouts. Dad retained for himself only the privilege of having a home on a corner of the property. His only surviving relative, a stepson, 60 years of age, was party to the gift. Early this spring the old man's house burned. The disaster was followed by the death of his stepson.

The old man was left destitute, so the scouts arose to the emergency. Individual subscriptions from the boys and personal donations from scout executives brought sufficient money to purchase material for a four-room bungalow. A leading architect designed the house and supervised the construction. The scouts built it, working after school and on Saturdays. The council was able to meet a situation that had threatened to be humiliating to their old friend as well as to his pals, the scouts.

SCOUTS OBTAIN CAMP SITES IN HONOR OF WORK

Memorial camp sites are recent donations from a number of mothers who have lost young sons. The Boy Scouts of America have been named beneficiaries in several wills made of late by admirers of their good work. American boyhood is not passing along its path unnoticed, it would seem, from these generous and splendid gifts.

When Camp Curtis S. Reed, on Lake Hahopac, opens next week, the scouts of white Plains will be greeted by a new $500 mess hall. The building as well as the camp site is the gift of Mrs. William A. Reed, in honor of her war-hero son.

More than 300 acres of wooded land on Eagle creek near Portland, Ore., are now the property of the Portland council, the gift of Mrs. Almira B. Millard, of Seattle. The property is being developed this summer, and will be named in honor of the donor's son, Samuel Brown Millard, who died several years ago.

Kindness of Portland scouts to a feeble woman during her last years has resulted in a second gift to that council. Several shore lots, as well as bequests of $100 each to the boys who ran errands and cared for her, were the presents Mrs. Liza Frame left to her young companions. Embittered by the death of her only son, who was drowned, the elderly woman was discovered living in voluntary exile. The boys ran errands for the lonely mother and ministered to her needs with the result that she became interested in scouting.

Protection of animals, birds, trees and flowers is the trust placed in Boy Scouts of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny council, Pa., under the terms of a recent bequest. What is known as the "Darlington Bird Sanctuary" has been established by the will of Mary O'Hara Darlington, the last survivor of the Darlington family, one of the oldest and most prominent of Pittsburgh. Miss Darlington bequeathed to scouts property known as the Guyasuta reservation, a wooded section on the Allegheny river, to be used by them as a permanent camping field. All of the foliage, flowers, trees, birds and animals are to be protected, and the donor has created a trust fund for the maintenance of the site.

H. J. WEEKS, TITLE COMPILER, EXPLAINS WHY HE ADVOCATES EXISTING TORRENS LAND LAW

A good deal of interest has been aroused by the discussion, through the columns of The Register, on the Torrens land title law, by Henry J. Weeks, supporting the Torrens law, and Horace Head, opposing it.

Mr. Head is very well known, indeed, to nearly all the readers of The Register as one of Santa Ana's leading attorneys, who has lived here practically all his life, and stands high in his profession.

Mr. Weeks is not so well known. He is a professional title compiler—that is, he compiles all the titles of a county and starts a set of books for title companies such as the three companies operating in this city and county. His last job of that kind was preparing the titles and books for the Reliance Title company, with offices in the Walter Moore building, on the Broadway side, of which E. E. Vincent is president and John A. Harvey is vice president and chief counsel.

Mr. Weeks has made his home in Santa Ana and Laguna Beach for about two years.

Weeks Calls Meeting. In addition to his article in The Register attacking the validity and sufficiency of Torrens titles, Mr. Head spoke last Friday before the Realty board along the same lines. Supplementing his articles in The Register supporting Torrens titles, Mr. Weeks has called a meeting in Birch park for tomorrow (Wednesday) evening, at which time he will further discuss this interesting and important subject.

When Mr. Weeks brought in his advertisement announcing this meeting in Birch park, he was asked why he is so deeply interested in Torrens titles. Due to the fact that he is a professional compiler of titles for title companies, and receives large fees for his work, it seemed strange that he should be such an ardent advocate of Torrens titles. In reply to the question, Mr. Weeks submitted the following written statement:

Statement by Weeks. "My only interest in the Torrens land title law is that it is a good and sufficient law for its purposes. It does away with the old system of repeated examinations of the same title and the repeated arbitrary fees charged in every dealing with the same title."

"I have been a title compiler for over 38 years and was first induced to study the California Torrens law HOPING to find something DEFECTIVE in it that would enable me to continue in the exercise of my own profession. The more I studied the law, the more I became convinced that, in the language of Chief Justice White, in the case of the American Land company vs. Zeiss (219 U. S. etc.), 'The statute is sufficient in all its requirements.'"

"I concluded that all the private title companies would put themselves in line for carrying out the will of the people as expressed in the law, and, in fact, some of them, in Alameda county especially, the Oakland Title company (as it was then) advertised in large characters over its office: 'Titles registered under the California land title law.'

Law Is Discouraged.

"Then, as soon as it was found no appropriation had been made under the law for a Torrens commissioner to explain the law and get it before the people, the title companies took the line they have ever since maintained, of discouraging the law and passively opposing it."

"I have been asked what there is in this Torrens law for me, that I take such an active interest in it. Well, nothing, from a money point of view. But much from the feeling I have that I must advocate with all my might a system that I know to be right and adequate for all its purposes. As far as money is concerned, I make more in one month at my own profession, under the old system, than I can make in a year 'registering Torrens titles,' were I in that business, which I am not. I compile title plans for my living. I suppose I work for the Torrens system, for the good of my soul and because I must."

18-Year-Old Boy Is Accepted As Legion Member

SALEM, Ore., June 30.—Capitol post, American legion, here, claims the distinction of having enrolled the youngest American Legion member in the United States.

He is Maurice Packer, now of Woodland, Calif., and he is 18 years old. The lad was adopted in France by the 162nd infantry, when he was but 10 years of age. When the infantry was back of the lines he answered roll call, but when it went to the front he was billeted with a French family.

When the 162nd returned to this country he accompanied the outfit, and was mustered out at Camp Lewis on April 10, 1919.

He has completed all his grades, and the first three years in high school. When he first came to this country he could scarcely speak English.

Young Packer was made a Legionnaire while visiting with friends in this city. He expects to return here when his schooling is finished.

REGISTER KEPT OF OLD-TIMERS IN ATTENDANCE AT BIG REUNION

348 Pioneers, From Over Southland, Sign Record; Nearly 500 at Party

'PICNIC GROUNDS' MUCH IMPROVED

Many Present Remember When Park Was Covered With Clinging Vines

Pioneers of Orange county today continued to discuss with pleasure the successful reunion held in Orange County park Sunday. The popular recreational center was known in the early days as the "picnic grounds" and many who were there Sunday commented on the changed but improved condition of the park. In the early days, the present cleared grounds were a jungle, with mammoth grape vines clinging and running through the big trees.

While it was estimated that 500 men, women and children were in the party, only 348 registered, some of those registering as arriving in the county in late years being the husband or wife of some of the older residents.

E. B. Burns has volunteered to make permanent the records of attendees and will group the names of those who registered by the years in which they arrived in the county.

The list of registrants, the names in parentheses being the maiden names of the women, the place of residence being in Santa Ana, except where otherwise noted, and dates of arrival in Orange county, follow:

SEEK RELATIVES HERE OF MAN KILLED ON RAILROAD

The picture above is one of two taken from the pockets of the man unknown found mangled along the right-of-way of the Rock Island railroad at Liberal, Kas., last week. The young man at the left is the victim, the coroner believes. It is thought that the man came from Orange county and efforts are being made to identify him.

Would Identify Victim by Means of Photographs Found on Body

Following receipt here of two photographs found in the pockets of the young man discovered dead along the Rock Island railroad tracks last week at Liberal, Kas., renewed efforts are being made to locate relatives or friends of the victim. One of the pictures showed a young woman, and the other was a group picture, the younger man in the latter photo resembles the victim.

Dick Walker, insurance man, of 1235 1/2 Bush street, Santa Ana, whose card was found on the dead man, is making the rounds of county photo developing establishments in the hope that someone will recognize the pictures. The fact that Walker's card was found on the body leads to the conclusion that the man was from Orange county and probably a policy holder in the firm Walker represents.

In the letter which accompanied the pictures, the coroner stated that the victim was about 20 years of age, five feet, six inches in height, weighed about 140 pounds, wore size seven shoes, size seven hat, size 14-14 shirt. The eyes are brown and the hair light brown.

35 AT OPENING OF CITY PLAYGROUNDS

The city playgrounds opened yesterday afternoon at the Frances Willard junior high school grounds, with an attendance of 35. The boys chose mostly to play indoor baseball, handball, horseshoes and tennis.

Miss Thelma Patton, well known in athletic and high school circles, and who has chosen physical education and playground work for her major in college, has volunteered to take charge of the younger boys and the girls on the Washington grounds, temporarily, at least, until funds can be secured to place someone there for the entire summer.

Mothers who will not be home in the afternoon will find their children well taken care of on the city playgrounds, it is announced.

FAIR PREMIUM LIST READY TO BE GIVEN OUT

Awards Increased 25 Per Cent and Not One Prize Is Offered For Pumpkin

Premium list for the Orange County fair has just been issued. It contains 25 per cent more premiums than any of its predecessors, and not a single award for a pumpkin.

Beside setting this historical record, the book indicates that Orange county is to have a well balanced fair, completely up-to-date in its treatment of agricultural and commercial interests of the whole county. The fair will be held September 22 to 25 inclusive.

Distribution of the premium books will be made through the farm bureau and the chambers of commerce in all sections of the county. Plans of the board of directors call for more elaborate displays in all departments than have been shown in other years.

Features in Agriculture John R. Ragan, of Orange, will have charge of the agricultural feature tent, which will be devoted exclusively to products of Orange county soils. An elaborate decorative scheme has been approved, and from an artistic as well as crop quality standpoint, this feature of the fair is expected to be a great attraction.

In view of the growth of industries in the county, the industrial tent will be allotted one-third more space than at the last fair.

A long list of special award cups and plaques has been arranged. A representative industrial exhibition, expected to be of high educational value, is planned, giving every industry opportunity to become better known.

Department Chairmen

The board has designated the following chairmen of departments: Livestock, H. L. Wakeham, Tus-tin; poultry, Roy K. Bishop, Orange; dairy, H. R. Howell, Santa Ana; pig-breeding and pet stock, C. C. Clark, Fullerton; culinary and home canning, Mrs. E. M. Bradley, Santa Ana; domestic art and needlework, Mrs. W. B. McConnell, Santa Ana; manual arts, Mrs. E. M. Blake, Santa Ana; floriculture, M. P. Morris, Santa Ana; Boy Scouts, Roland Dye, Santa Ana; fine arts, Wm. A. Griffith, Laguna Beach; dogs, Frank K. Kirker, Fullerton; Automobile and agriculture department chairmen will be announced in a few days.

Secretaries of chambers of commerce throughout Orange county will have a supply of the premium books. All detailed information regarding exhibits, and awards, which consists of cash, cups and plaques, also general information about the fair, are contained in the premium list. It will be mailed upon request. The fair is being directed from the farm bureau office, Hall of Records, Santa Ana.

ELKS OFFER HELP

MUTE EVIDENCE OF FATE SUFFERED BY GROUP OF EXPLORERS IN ARCTIC REGION

A broken sled, a pile of human bones, scattered heaps of broken tin cans and bottles—these told the story of the ill-fated "third group" of the Stefansson expedition which wandered away when the "Karluk" jammed in the ice during the 1914 exploration trip. The place and nature of their end was revealed not long ago by a party headed by H. A. Snow, former African hunter, who has just arrived in New York bringing the first pictures. It will be recalled that Stefansson and one party reached the mainland, and that the other split into two groups, one of which "broke through" and the other was swallowed up by the white silence.

ALL STORES IN SANTA ANA WILL CLOSE JULY 4TH

Santa Ana stores will be closed all day Saturday, July 4. The board of directors of the Merchants and Manufacturers association today recommended that all stores close Friday night, and not reopen until Monday morning, and that the national colors be prominently displayed.

P. S. Lucas, secretary of the association, remarking that the Fourth is one of the seven regular holidays recognized by his organization, requests that all stores remain closed Saturday.

"Let all stores of Santa Ana honor their country July 4 by refraining from transacting business," said Lucas. "This is a holiday that everyone should observe. We also request that the red, white and blue be displayed throughout the city."

Inasmuch as the stores will be closed from Friday night to Monday morning, shoppers should do their buying early, it is pointed out.

ANOTHER SLIDE IN WYOMING IMPENDS

JACKSON, Wyo., June 30.—Chief mountain, source of two Great avalanches into the Gros Ventre river valley, today threatened to continue its whimsical behavior.

A well defined crack, extending several miles over the north end of the mountain, was believed to be a warning that a third avalanche, larger than any heretofore, is threatened.

Messages from the region indicated that this landslide, should it occur, might fill the river valley and cause the Gros Ventre to seek another outlet. It was believed the slide would strike the valley in the vicinity of the first.

Rescue Woman 20 Hours In Wreckage

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—"So dusty there; so hard to breathe!"

Thus the complaint of 23-year-old Macorria Villamor, Mexican scrubwoman, taken from the wreck of an office building after almost 20 hours' imprisonment.

"I am scrubbing the floors when they roll up at me," she explained from her bed at Cottage hospital. "Then the wall, it fall all over me and I go down, down. So much dust! I can hardly breathe."

"But I just wait and wait, because I can hear the scratching as they dig for me, and in time they take me out."

Dark-eyed Macorria has a broken arm, a bruised and sprained back and internal injuries. Here life is in the balance, but she has the will to live.

It is not around her cruel injuries that the memories of the night of horror remain; it is "that dust—so hard to breathe."

SHERIFF SENDS OFFER OF HELP TO QUAKE AREA

Orange county today was doing all possible to aid in giving relief to stricken Santa Barbara.

The county state motorcycle officers left here at midnight for the stricken area, following receipt of advices that more officers were needed to patrol the roads leading into the city, and Sheriff Sam Jernigan has sent two men to aid Sheriff James Ross, of Santa Barbara county.

Deputy Sheriffs Joe Irvine and Laurin E. Hurd left here at 6 o'clock last night for the ill-fated city via automobile. They carried a letter to Sheriff Ross from Sheriff Jernigan, offering him all the aid that Orange county could give, and offering use of the Orange county jail for Santa Barbara prisoners.

Sheriff Jernigan received word yesterday that the Santa Barbara county jail had been demolished by the quake, and that 20 of the prisoners had been removed to Ventura, probably all that the Ventura jail could accommodate. Others have been put at work among the debris on the city streets.

It is possible, Jernigan said, that Irvine and Hurd will bring several prisoners here.

Motorcycle Officers F. G. Yoder, Walter Meyer, Ray Bradford and Louis Heffner, comprised the Orange county squad which left here at midnight for the devastated region. Capt. Hank Warner will remain in the local office during the absence of his men.

PRESIDENT LEAVES FATHER'S BEDSIDE

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 30.—Satisfied that his father's health was safe again, President Coolidge left here by motor shortly after noon today, bound back to his summer White House in Swampscott, Mass. J. F. Coughlin, the president's official physician, remained behind to attend Colonel Coolidge and to be in a position to keep the president constantly informed concerning further progress.

Roads through the mountain section of Vermont were still soggy and muddy from the rains of the last four days but it was expected the president could reach Swampscott in seven or eight hours without difficulty.

Two Are Injured When Auto Runs Into Motor Truck

Two men were hurt when an automobile ran head-on into a truck, which was parked at the side of the road, at Seventeenth street and the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A. Valdevia, 47, Orange, suffered cuts and bruises, and Ray Landrauri, 30, Orange, was cut and bruised, suffered a sprained thumb and injuries to his chest.

Both men were taken to Orange County hospital, where they were reported as resting easily today. According to a report made to the sheriff's office, the truck contained several men. It was parked near the railroad tracks, when a car driven by Will Streech, 297 Orange avenue, Orange, crashed into it, knocking two of the men to the ground. No one in the automobile was injured.

ALL PROBLEMS OF WORLD CAN BE SOLVED BY CHARITY ROUTE

Doctrine of Jesus Still Remains Greatest of All Things, Jurist Declares

CONKLING SPEAKER AT JUNIOR CHAMBER

Orations by Lawyers Convince Judge Man Is Not Descended from Oysters

Jesus' doctrine, charity, still remains the greatest thing in the world, and can solve all the world's problems, Judge Marvin Conklin, exalted ruler of the El Centro lodge of Elks, and the presiding judge in the El Capitan water case, now being tried here, declared in an inspiring address, "Evolution Down to Date," given at the junior chamber of commerce dinner meeting at Ketter's cafe, last night.

Jesus taught unselfishness, real, genuine charity between men, and His teachings are real, they have survived, Judge Conklin said. More and more, men are coming to realize the truth of his sermon, he asserted.

Speaking of the famous evolution case at Dayton, Tenn., the speaker declared it appears that Bryan has the best case but that the defense if has the best lawyers. The important thing to consider is not where we came from, but where we are going, Judge Conklin said.

Proof in Lawyers' Pleas The jurist declared that the orations of the lawyers in the water case have convinced him that man is not descended from clams and oysters.

"Science is of very little use when it comes to forming ideals," said the speaker. "High ideals are a matter of belief and faith. What we want to preserve is love of man for man."

"The mother of Alexander the Great told him that he was descended from a God. I don't believe that he could have conquered the world if he had believed that he was descended from a monkey. The disciples of Jesus put into words and works of their Master. But it was not until the sixteenth century that people began to appreciate His teachings. The dawn of toleration began when men began living up to Jesus' teachings—charity, love of man for man."

Jefferson Road Boss "Thomas Jefferson, after he served as president, went back to his home and to private life. More as a joke, he was appointed road overseer. He set an example of service and humility by serving faithfully and well at the humble job to which he had been named."

The last cycle in evolution has seen the formation of such organizations as the service clubs, and the junior chamber of commerce, pledged to serve, Judge Conklin declared. They simply mean that we have learned that we owe a duty to one another, he said.

Judge Conklin opened his talk by stating that, among Imperial county's claims to fame, was the fact that the district is the largest producer of honey in the United States. This is accomplished by working the bees three shifts, sending lightning bugs out with the bees at night, he said.

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT YOST TONIGHT

The ready wit and clever topical rhyming of Hap. Farnell of the team of Farnell and Florence easily marks them as the outstanding attraction on the coming Association Vaudeville bill at the Yost theater. The fact that they utilize to good advantage all sorts of timely topics and recent local happenings is no doubt responsible for their spontaneous approval wherever they appear.

To those who possess a daughter of marriageable age the one act skit of Billy Gross and company, "Oh You Flirt" should make a genuine appeal. It will also strike a chord of sympathy with the young man who hesitates to ask for the hand of the young lady of his choice. The story gives Billy Gross ample scope for his recognized ability as a comedian while it also gives the supporting members of the cast an opportunity to display their respective histrionic propensities. An abundance of elaborate stage setting furnishes the proper atmosphere for the plot.

One of the most unusual musical offerings is Sang & Chung, two real honest-to-goodness Chinese boys who have voices that harmonize exceptionally well and who know how and what to sing. They also have a fund of good comedy that is even more rare with Oriental acts. Their beautiful colored and gold embroidered costumes lend a decided touch of Oriental atmosphere and greatly enhance the appearance of this act.

Peters and LeBuff have an exclusive sensational forward somersault off a high horizontal bar to a hand to hand catch which always succeeds in producing a thrill and at the same time demonstrates their ability as heavy weight athletes in their routine of bumps, bounces, thrills and falls.

Miss Lottie Rule provides a musical treat on saxophone and accordion that proves the popularity of these two instruments with modern day audiences. She has a splendid repertoire of good selection as well as a very nifty assortment of pretty clothes and a form on which they drape to advantage. A more satisfying combination of high class entertainment would be difficult to assemble.

STAGE AND SCREEN

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS
YOST—Vaudeville (five acts) and "Eve's Secret" with Betty Compson and Jack Holt.
WEST END—"Black Cyclone," with Rex, the wonder horse.
WALKER—Vaudeville and "The Monster," with Lon Chaney.

"EVE'S SECRETS" OPENING AT YOST TONIGHT.
The day of the long drawn out cast of characters—names that don't mean a thing to theatergoers is about over, judging from recent pictures in general and the new production, "Eve's Secret," now showing at the Yost, in particular. "Fewer and bigger names" seems to be Paramount's motto. For the first time in their screen careers Betty Compson and Jack Holt are costarred in a picture in "Eve's Secret." Holt has the role of a quick-tempered Duke whose chateau overlooks the little French village of d'Enville. The Duke's faith in the women of his own rank is pretty much frayed out as the result of finding the Princess, the woman he was to have married, in the arms of another man. Holt removes the man in the case in a duel and then fares forth into the village where he meets Betty, playing Eve, a cobbler's daughter. It's a case of love at first sight, and he sends her to Paris to be educated, intent on making her his wife.

William Collier Jr., recently seen in "The Devil's Cargo," and who has the title role in the forthcoming Paramount production, "The Wanderer," which brings the Prodigal Son to the screen, heads the supporting cast.

WONDER HORSE OF FILMS AT WEST END

"Black Cyclone" is a picture that will cause a lot of talk—in fact, yesterday the West End theater was buzzing with appreciative comment during and after the showing of this astounding horse drama, in which Hal Roach features his magnificent wild stallion, Rex. When they weren't marveling over the intelligence of the horse, they were laughing over its several delightful humorous incidents, ahing and ohing over its beautiful scenery and splendid photography, and excited over its many thrills. In fact, when the hero prays for the fastest horse in the world, that he may ride to the rescue of his sweetheart, the air is tense with excitement when Rex dashes up and the man, leaping on the horse, who is without saddle or bridle, stages the wildest ride the screen has ever seen.

This wonderful riding is performed by Guinn Williams, who, as the hero of the human story woven throughout "Black Cyclone," has little to do, but distinguishes himself nevertheless. It is he who risks his life to get Rex out of the deadly quicksands. It is he who tries to mount Rex and is thrown twice, and they're mean spills! It is he who is the only man admitted to Rex's friendship, and it is he who really brings to Rex supreme victory.

"THE MONSTER" CLOSES AT WALKER'S TONIGHT

Lurking figures, slinking stealthily through the shrubbery, doors opening unexpectedly, secret panels closing suddenly, a hooded what-is-it turning on the current for the electric chair, fights, steel traps, comedy, suspense—and "The Monster," which closes at Walker's tonight. It's a thrilling mystery film. It's a thrilling mystery film, with Lon Chaney as the suave Dr. Ziska, who frightens his victims and sends ecstatic chills through the audience. Johnny Arthur as the amateur detective is a delight. Johnny takes a few drinks—and the subsequent situations are a riot. There are plenty of laughs, despite the weirdness of the plot, and the picture is highly entertaining.

Irene Young and Al Weston, makers of popular laughing phonograph records, appear in their sketch, "Making Laugh Microbes" is one of the most entertaining acts in vaudeville. Their song "Laugh That Off" is a scream.

How other women never lose a day's charm

Just try this NEW way that solves woman's oldest hygienic problem so amazingly

SOME women are fresh and charming every day. Never is a day lost.

Their secret is simple... just correct personal hygiene.

Follow it... see what a great difference it makes to you.

Modern science has supplanted the old-time sanitary pad with a better, safer way.

Wear filmy frocks and gayest gowns, dance, motor, come in contact with others with never a worry. Live every day of your life, unhandicapped.

This new way is Kotex... a method scientifically right.

It absorbs 5 times the moisture of the ordinary cotton pad. And that means great protection.

It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—that ends an old-time embarrassment.

It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

You get it at any department store or drug store, just by saying, "Kotex." And that banishes the embarrassment of asking for a "sanitary pad."

8 in every 10 women in the better walks of life have adopted it. Which proves its benefits.

It will mean much to you in health, in daintiness and protection. It proves old ways a needless folly.

KOTEX
DEODORIZED

- 1 Protection: 5 times as absorbent as cotton pads. Absorbs 18 times its own weight in moisture—and scientifically deodorized.
- 2 No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.
- 3 Easy to buy, anywhere. You ask for them by name. Many stores keep them ready-wrapped—help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.

No laundry—discard as easily as a piece of tissue

ROBERTSON-CHANDLERS BEAT BY HALEYS, 11-6; P. E. MEN RAP GRAND CENTRAL MARKET

Two long and grueling indoor baseball campaigns that will take 19 local teams and almost 300 players through a midsummer schedule were under way today, opening games having been played at Poly field here last night before a large crowd. The O. A. Haleys defeated the Robertson-Chandlers, 11 to 6, in the main dish of the evening while the Pacific Electric took the measure of the Grand Central market, 11 to 2, in the "B" league curtain-raiser.

Two more games will be played tonight and every night this week up to Saturday night.

A shower of prodigious wallop—the Southern Counties Gas company clubs—at each other's throats. "Trixie" Bergman and Wayne Nelson are slated to get the pitching nod.

HENNESSY DEFEATED IN BRITISH MATCH

WIMBLEDON, June 30.—After a terrific fight over five sets, John Hennessy, the last surviving American, was eliminated here today in the British National tennis championships by Henry Cochet, one of the French stars. Scores, 7-9, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 and 6-0.

Cochet will meet Jean Borotra, defending champion, in the semi final round. Borotra advanced by defeating Captain H. S. L. Barclay, 6-3, 6-7, 6-3 and 6-3.

Louisville, which has been leading the American Association race, won its last pennant in 1921.

FOUR IN FIGHT FOR BAMBINO'S OLD TITLE

With the bustling bambino definitely out of the running the 1925 battle for home run honors seems to stack up as a four-cornered jamboree with Ken Williams, Bob Meusel, "Gabby" Hartnett and Rogers Hornsby as the swatting monarchs vying for supremacy. Each can be rated a strong contender, apt to crash through to success.

HUNTINGTON BEACH ARENA TO OFFER 30 ROUNDS OF BOXING ON 'ACTION CARD' THURSDAY

Huntington Beach Card Joe Burns vs. Jackie Sherman, 125 pounds; 6 rounds. Tommy Shull vs. Eddie Sylvester, 135 pounds; 6 rounds. Ralph Downs vs. Eddie Morton, 150 pounds; 6 rounds. Young Carpenter vs. Kid Manila, 120 pounds; 4 rounds. Blackie Kimball vs. Johnny Varella, 116 pounds; 4 rounds. Young Polo vs. Kid Ray, 112 pounds; 4 rounds.

By RINGSIDER The sometimes too efficient art of nose-busting will be resumed at the Alabama avenue arena of the Huntington Beach Athletic club Thursday night after an interim of several weeks and the boxing fans of this district are going to test a new scheme from the "hoodie" of Billy Darnley, well known referee who has joined the club in an advisory capacity.

The card announced here today, has no great headlines—no especially notorious mitt slinger to entice the bugs into the swat place. But the promoters figure to give the fans more action and more extraordinary stuff for their money than has any arena in Orange county in recent years.

Thirty rounds of boxing is offered, provided, of course, that some boulder doesn't get vulgar and flatten his foe to the canvas before the regulation time has expired.

There will be three six-round bouts and three four-round mix-ups—if they all go the limit and the matchmakers assert they have handpicked the various opponents to guarantee action, plenty of action and more action.

Joe Burns and Jackie Sherman are billed to box the windup and they have agreed to go in at 125 pounds.

Burns recently defeated that good boy Ray Couesley and he holds a decision over Ernie Gomez of San Diego whom the young guys were "steaming up" as a real world champion prospect. Sherman isn't so well known here but they do say he is one of the busiest boys in the ring with a pack of dynamite in either duke.

Tommy Shull, a red-headed lightweight, meets Eddie Sylvester in the semi-final. Ralph Downs and Eddie Morton, the latter a colored lad, battle in the feature "prelim."

The first bout will be called at 8:30 o'clock. The doors open at 7 o'clock.

Harvard still has a big lead in the number of intercollegiate track and field championships won. Forty-nine have been held since the first meet was staged in 1876 and Harvard has won thirteen.

Gotham Moguls Refuse Kearns Corner Permit

NEW YORK, June 30.—The New York Boxing commission today refused Jack Kearns permission to act as a second for Mickey Walker in the Walker-Greb fight at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

Kearns' license to be a second has expired and the commission refused to grant him a new one. As manager for Jack Dempsey he has been at odds with the commission for some time because he would not sign an agreement for Dempsey to fight Harry Wills.

O'BRIEN, SALVADORE WILL MIX TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Tommy O'Brien, aspirant of the lightweight championship of the world, will be given the acid test at Vernon tonight when he meets Phil Salvatore, Los Angeles scrapper, in the main 10-round event.

Salvatore has an enviable reputation of upsetting the championship hopes of fighters. He is a mediocre scrapper when fighting a man who is not a first class fighter, but he has put up some whirlwind battles against the good boys and defeated many of them.

ITALIAN FUND BOXERS TAPER OFF TRAINING

Harry Wills, Weinert Foes In One Bout; Walker and Greb Mingle For Title

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 30.—Four of the boxers who are going to furnish the major activity in the Italian fund fight Thursday night at the Polo Grounds finished their training today and pulled up for a short rest.

Harry Greb, the negro heavyweight, and Charley Weinert, an Adonis of the white hope period, who are to meet in one of the 15 round features, came back to the city from the country where they have been training.

Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, who is to meet Mickey Walker, welterweight title holder, finished his work here and Walker completed his training near his home in New Jersey.

The whole card, consisting of a four rounder between Jack Sharkey and Joe Lynch and a six rounder between Jimmy Slattery and Dave Shade, in addition to the big feature bouts, is commanding more attention than any card in recent years.

MASCART QUITS BOUT WITH BABE HERMAN

NEW YORK, June 30.—Jose Lombardo will substitute for Eduard Mascart, French featherweight, against Babe Herman, California, here tonight. Mascart claims an injured hand and the promoters will appeal to the commission for action against him.

Fights and Fighters

BUFFALO, June 30.—Battling Siki, Senegalese heavyweight, was defeated in a six round bout by Art Deigand, Buffalo.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30.—Floyd Johnson, heavyweight, knocked out Chub Crawford, Washington State college boy, in the sixth round here last night of a head liner go on the Elks card. The bell saved Crawford for the count. He was not revived in time to start in the seventh.

The veteran Otto Crandall has been pitching good ball for the Los Angeles Pacific coast leaguers this season.

EVENING SALUTATION

The making of friends, who are real friends, is the best token we have of a man's success in life.—Edward Everett Hale.

FOR SANTA BARBARA

In its hours of terror and distress, the city of Santa Barbara has had the sympathy of every city of Southern California.

From everywhere came aid, rushed by those whose hearts were bleeding and whose tears were shed with the tears of those who suffered in Santa Barbara.

Brave Santa Barbara! On the very day of the disaster, her foremost citizens issued statements declaring that Santa Barbara would rebuild; Santa Barbara said it would go on as it always has—an example to the world of contentment and beauty. And so it will, of course, for Santa Barbara for a century and a half has typified the spirit of the western pioneer; through adversity and prosperity alike, Santa Barbara has remained always cheerful and always optimistic.

The agencies of charity, notably the American Red Cross, were quick to act in the emergency. Whatever funds can be used to any advantage to aid in the rehabilitation of the stricken city will be made available. In making those contributions the residents of Orange county will do their part. So far no appeal has been made to Red Cross chapters to enter into general solicitation for funds. No such appeal is likely to be made, for it seems certain that voluntary contributions will meet the needs of those in charge of relieving conditions at Santa Barbara. Announcement was made through the local chapter of the American Red Cross today that voluntary contributions will be received by its secretary, Mrs. J. H. Leebrick, at the courthouse, or its treasurer, H. L. Hanson, at the First National Bank. Contributions sent to or left at the office of The Register will be turned over immediately to the Red Cross.

SACRAMENTO'S TREES

We have almost despaired of seeing the day when Santa Ana will give adequate attention to the planting and preservation of street shade trees. Nevertheless we are always interested in reading something from other cities, showing that they regard shade trees as an asset, not as a nuisance. Just now we have before us an editorial from the Sacramento Bee, reading as follows:

Acting upon the recommendation of City Manager H. C. Bortoff, the city council adopted an ordinance Thursday night under which it will no longer be possible to butcher the trees of Sacramento on one man's say-so.

Hereafter when any one desires to cut down a tree, he must petition the council, which in turn must hold a public hearing on the matter, at which opponents as well as proponents of the cutting will be heard.

And it will be necessary to secure a majority vote of the council before a tree can be touched.

This is a measure which The Bee long has been advocating.

It is the policy pursued with regard to zoning and other matters of public interest. And nothing is more important for the present and future welfare of Sacramento than the preservation of her magnificent trees against the inroads of the vandals and those who would sacrifice their beauty on the slightest pretext.

Now that the council has rightly taken the matter into its own hands, it is to be hoped it will be equally zealous in conserving Sacramento's finest heritage.

CHINESE NATIONALITY

The Chinese situation seems to be assuming the form of a labor boycott. This is the most notable thing about it.

Cases of violence and outrage are sporadic, and perhaps exceptional when the extent and populosity of the country are considered. Foreigners are frightened, which is natural, and foreign women and children are leaving the country. Perhaps that is wise. Yet the opposition now shown to foreigners does not suggest the famous Boxer revolt. This is mainly a movement of passive resistance to alien domination.

It is primarily economic. It is also political. And trying to look at the situation dispassionately, an American will probably conclude that it is patriotic.

The remarkable feature of this uprising is that it seems to show the Chinese at last in the process of developing a national spirit. That is something they have not had for thousands of years.

A fiery nationalism in that vast, teeming country might be disastrous for the world. A sturdy, self-respecting spirit of nationality, showing itself in unity and co-operation for the preservation of Chinese liberties and hostile only to foreign aggression, would be something that honest white nations should neither fear nor oppose.

THE SPIRIT OF WONDER

Padraic Colum, writing about Lord Dunsany, the writer of strange tales and drama, says that if anyone should ask such a one as Dunsany what he had done for his fellow-men, he could answer, "I have kept alive their spirit of wonder, and wonder in man is holy."

It is a mission quite different in its method from those which are aimed at man's moral regeneration or social reform or physical well-being. And there are many practical persons who will regard keeping alive the spirit of wonder as the last word in foolishness.

The spirit of wonder is one of childhood's greatest charms, and it is a child trait which is carried into maturity only by the spiritually fortunate and blessed.

It looks as if science in Tennessee will have to be bootlegged.

LYNCHING DECLINES

The Commission on Race Relations announces in its annual report that 45 attempted lynchings were prevented in the year 1924. Lynchings have dropped from 52 in 1914 to only 16 in 1924.

Two chief reasons for this improvement are given. One is the more effective work of public officials in protecting threatened prisoners from mobs. The other is the steady growth of public opinion against lynching, particularly in the South.

This great gain in the prevention of lynchings seems the more remarkable in view of the shockingly high murder rate. If mobs can be prevented from killing the victims of their wrath, surely greater success should be possible in preventing private slayings. Public opinion which has weight against the mob should also have weight against the gunman, the poisoner and their like, at least to the extent of depriving them of their weapons.

Business Prospects Good

Pasadena Star-News.

Surveys of business and industrial conditions, the country over, show that comparisons this season with the same date last year are favorable. And as to the outlook, it is quite promising. In nearly all important lines of industry, operations are proceeding at a swifter and more regular pace than during the 1924 summer. That the fall season will bring expansion is indicated. There is no boom in prospect. There is no reason to expect spectacular increase in volume of industry or trade. But there is ground for belief that expansion will be steady and healthy. It is noteworthy that steel production in the Pittsburgh district is away beyond the volume of last summer.

There is summer lull in business—which is expected at this season, year after year. But railroad freight movements indicate larger volume of trade in diversified commodities than is usual in summer.

It is to be noted, with gratification, that there is nothing fictitious about business and industrial activities. They are just what they are. Furthermore, they proceed from natural economic causes. There is healthy normal demand for necessities. The people have money with which to buy. And they have enough confidence in general conditions to impel them to spend freely. These combinations of economic and psychologic conditions augur continued prosperity for the country.

California Standards Higher

E. P. Clarke in Riverside Press.

This is commencement week for many schools and colleges in Maine; and we spent today at the Gorham normal, one of the largest of the five normal schools in Maine. The graduation will take place tomorrow and today was devoted to demonstration work in the classes, to an exhibit of hand craft, and to a program of music. The young women (and a limited number of men) seem of the same earnest type that we find in the teacher training institutions in California; and I was favorably impressed with the work done. The Maine normals are still on a two-year basis so far as the training of elementary teachers is concerned; but they offer a three year course in industrial arts and a three year course for those who desire to teach in junior high school.

I was deluged with inquiries about California schools, the opportunities for positions, the salaries paid, and the standards for certification. California requires two and a half years training beyond the high school for elementary certification and will soon require three years. The standard for high school certification is also higher in California than in the east, by one year at least. I do not find here in the east, however, any criticism of these higher standards; on the contrary there is general recognition of the real leadership of California in education and genuine respect is paid to anyone who represents public education in California.

To Test Zoning Principle

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

After many years of dodging the chief issue in the question of property zoning, the fundamental policy, whether or not a municipality has any right to withhold from an owner of real estate the privilege of using it in such manner as he may desire, provided it does not infringe upon public safety, will be passed upon by the United States Supreme Court. A Los Angeles case which has been buffeted about on the various steps from the trial tribunal to the Supreme Court of the state, now will be carried to those Federal judges who are the arbiters of final resort.

The fight is directed against the Los Angeles zoning ordinance prohibiting business houses on part of Wilshire Boulevard. The Superior Court held that zoning is a valid exercise of police powers. This decision was upheld by the District Court of Appeal. Chief Justice Myers of the State Supreme Court has granted a writ of error on the grounds that the zoning ordinance is unconstitutional in that the Constitution prohibits the taking of property without due process of law. This writ of error will be presented to the United States Supreme Court.

Announcement also is made that the setback ordinance affecting the same frontage will be attacked as unconstitutional and will be tested before the highest court.

These issues should be finally settled in the interests of the orderly development of cities, and as a matter of justice to owners of property.

Courage Still in Demand

Sacramento Bee.

Neither Frank R. Kent, political editor of the Baltimore Sun, nor that paper itself were in any sense friendly to the late Senator LaFollette politically. But in an article dealing with his death, Kent said among other things:

He was the center of the severest storms that raged in the senate for the last twenty-five years. And this is to be said for him: He never dodged a vote or straddled an issue. There never was a time when it was not perfectly clear where he stood. Even during the war, when his attitude made him the most hated man in public life, it was a fearless attitude. Of how many others can such a statement be truthfully made.

Yet courage is still among the major virtues, respected and honored by the American people to-day as much as it ever was by the Romans of old. And the pussyfooting politicians—that breed which has no more conviction than a weathercock and like it turns this way and that with every current of public feeling—could do well to take a lesson from the pages of the life of Bob LaFollette.

A brave man, even when he is wrong, is a more admirable figure than a coward and a time-server when he is right.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

LAUGH WHILE YOU'RE EATING

Season your eating with good cheer. This is the advice of many physicians and dietitians. Conversation and laughter have a good effect upon the digestive system, they say. Although it is true that while laughing one may swallow a bit of unassimilated food, the harm is much overbalanced by the good effect the laughter has on the stomach.

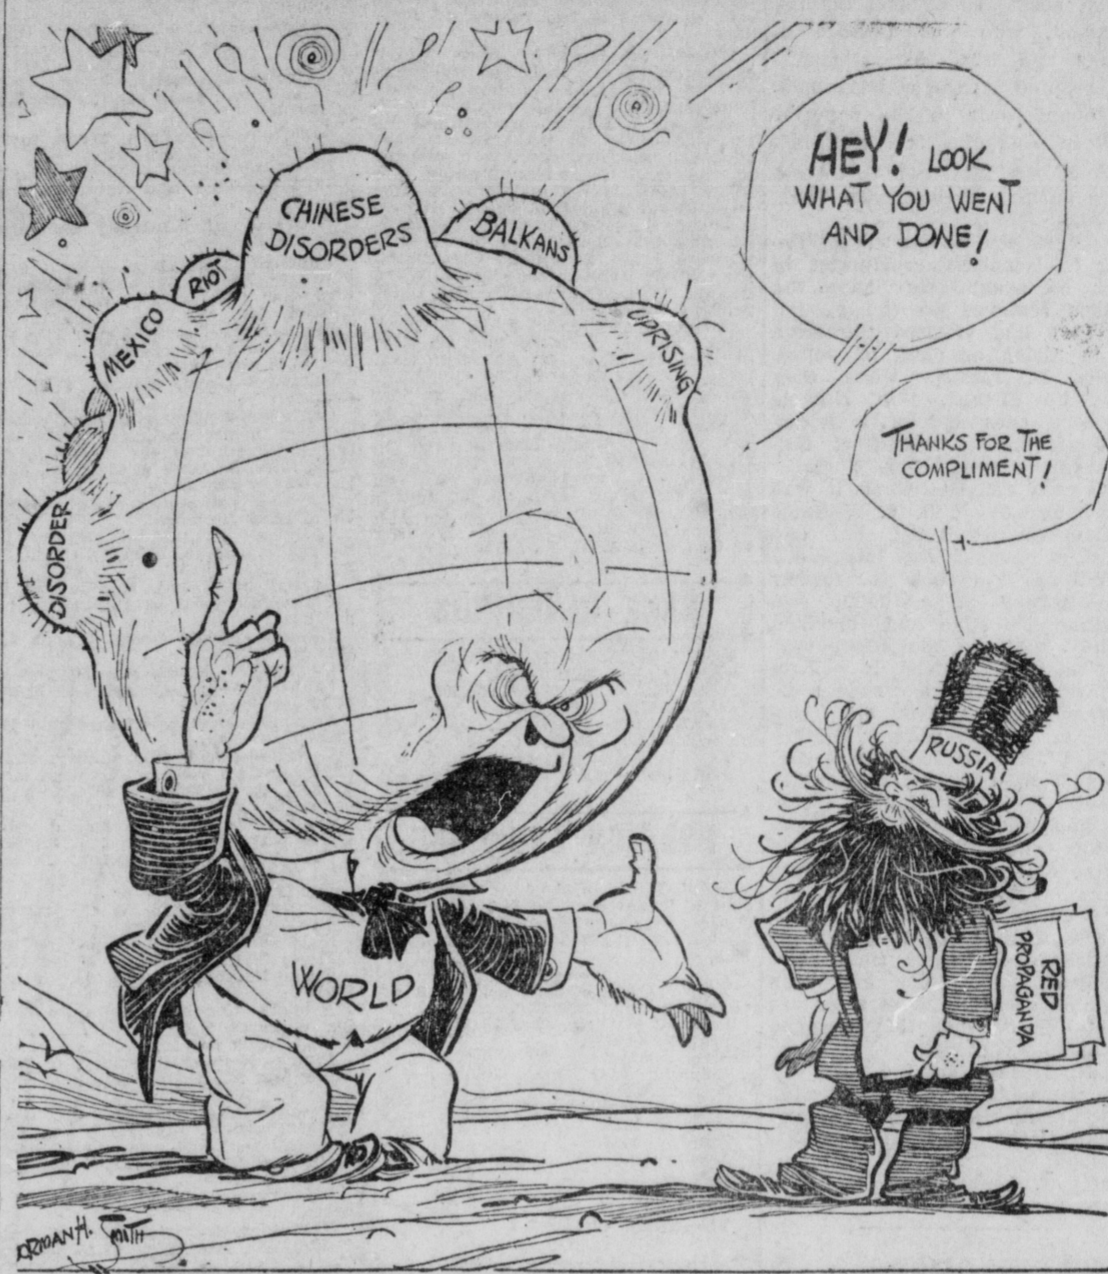

Every time one laughs the diaphragm gives the stomach an extra squeeze, and shakes it up and down. This is a part of the movement of the stomach in digestion.

Laughter also stimulates the blood vessels, causing the blood to flow quickly, sending a warm glow to the feet and limbs, and spurring the stomach and liver into increased activity.

To stimulate a pleasant atmosphere at the dining table, the housewife should have the food look as palatable as possible.

Clean linens, clean china ware and sparkling glasses help. Also a nice, fresh bowl of flowers is a great stimulant to a pleasant feeling.

Somebody Has to Be the Goat

False Idols

Kiwanis Magazine.

As the Aleut erects before his home a totem pole on which he carves certain household gods, so also does the humorist erect in his mind a certain idol. Carved on it is an Irishman who fights, a Hebrew who has a fire sale, an Englishman who can not understand a joke, a German who is stupid, a politician who grafts and a doctor who always wants to operate.

The idols are false gods, mere accessories which the humorist uses in his work of making people laugh. Some of the most peaceful citizens are Irishmen, some of the biggest business men, artists and musicians of the world are Jews. Some of the cleverest jokers in the world are Englishmen and the world of science knows that Germans are immeasurably far from being stupid.

It has been said truly that Kiwanis is a cross section of the business life of this continent. It is a flux, fusing together the various people who make up the two great nations in Kiwanis. In Kiwanis are descendants of almost every European people whose ancestors have been long on this continent that they call themselves native Americans or Canadians. Among our most valued citizens are Irishmen, Jews, Englishmen, Germans; men of every creed, white race and class.

Kiwanis should be iconoclastic only against that which is evil. But should we not try, in our speeches and our writings, to break down this totem pole, the use of which occasionally offends some of the most valued Kiwanians?

No Kiwanian ever intends offense. No Kiwanian ever hurts the sensitive feelings of another Kiwanian with malice. There is, however, a vast difference between having a group of men laugh with you, and having that same group laugh at you. Kiwanis, dropping jests in bad taste, will set the world an example in consideration of the feelings of others. Let us break down these idols, uproot these totem poles which have stood all too long before the door of the humorist.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pope

Me and pop was starting to take a walk before supper and ma sed, Willyum I want you to bring me home a spool of white darning cotton and a quart of ice cream because we haven't a thing for dizzard.

Meaning jest the ice cream for dizzard, and pop sed, It shall be done, your excellency.

You say it glibly enuff, and then the first thing you know you'll forget and come home empty handed looking as innocent as a newly washed baby, ma sed, Benny, I expect you to remind him, a spool of white darning cotton and a quart of ice cream, he sed.

I'll remind him all rite, I sed. Thinking of the ice cream, and pritty soon we started to go past a ice cream place and I sed, Heers one now, pop?

One wat? Ware? pop sed, and I sed, Ma told me to remind you about the ice cream.

Yee gods do you want me to get it now and take it a wawk with us and have it tarning to soop and leeking all over the payment with 20 cents following me to lick it up? pop sed.

Sounding like a exaggeration, and I sed, No sir, only I jest thawt I'd mention it so ma wouldn't think I forgot to remind you.

I see, well theres nothing like having a clear conscients, pop sed. And I reminded him agen every time we passed a ice cream place or a drug store with a ice cream sine outside, and pop went in the last place on the way home and bawt a quart, and jest wen we was going up our front steps, I sed, O gosh, jimmily crickets, good nite.

Wat did you lose? pop sed, and I sed, We forgot to get the darning cotton, and pop sed, I bleeve we did, well suppr must be reddy now, you can run erround after-wards.

That place aint open after supper, I sed, and pop sed, Well the best way to punish a place like that is to simply ignore it.

And we went in with the ice cream and ma was as mad as anything because we forgot the cotton, me not feeling neerly as sad as wat I would of felt if she had of bin mad because we forgot the ice cream.

VACATIONS

I'm bubbling all over with kinds of pep frankly, just rarin' to go. With those who a happy I've fallen and, believe me, the pace isn't slow.

I'll have to admit that at times I've been blue carried a frown on my brow. But, now, a the world takes a different hue, and it never was brighter than now.

The song of the birds seems more tuneful today tint on the trees is more green. I really am filled with the spiz, 'stead of work, if you know what I mean.

With essence of youth all my system's afire, and seems to merrily leap. I jump out of bed, I have no dead over an go back to sleep.

I'm packin' my grip and I'm takin' a tip till the time's drifted around. When all's said and done, I must in for so much as I can get.

Choosy About Their

Harry V. Harlan in National Geographic M.

For two days we had come across one pack train after another, all going in our direction. They consisted of burros loaded with grain. The drivers, when asked where they were going, invariably answered, "To the Makfid market." I was naturally interested in markets, as they offered an opportunity to collect gains and seeds; also, "Makfid" was one of the names that wason all three of our maps.

We decided to go to Makfid, so sent the carava directly ahead, while we made the detour to the market. Imagine our surprise, after a three hour ride, to come out upon a bare mountain top. This was the Makfid market place. There was a lake village an hour away, which doubtless was on none of our three maps, yet this place was shown on each of them.

I came across other markets later—bare mountain tops like this one, with no village about. Here I first ran into the complications of byssinian money. About Addis Ababa and along the railroad, traffics carried on much as elsewhere in the world. Over most Abyssinia his is not true, however. The Id Maria Thersaler of Austria I found good everywhere, with reservations. It is as good in Qndar as in Addis Ababa. But thecoin must be dated 1870 and thmedallion on the empress's dress must not be worn off by usage. I date other than 1870 is acceptable. All new coins bear this date.

With the fractional currency it is different. Tithaler is divided into sixteen actions, usually called tonaums. These are accepted in and ar Addis Ababa. It is true that e cannot get sixteen of them, eapt in stamps at the postoffice. The market you get eleven or y may get eight, depending on the scarcity, but never sixteen. beyond Ankober they are not accepted.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barto

NO. 2—WIT THEY SAW IN THE CRY

Off went the Tw to the house of the Green Wiza. Now the Green ard lived in the tree-tops and one can find his house except magic. But the magic shoes t Nancy and Nick there before clock could strike four.

"How do you do, Iren," said the Green Wizard in very glad to see you. How is friend, the Fairy Queen?"

"She's pretty webut she is worried," said Nanc "Somebody stole her bees. Shept them in a golden hive in hose garden and somebody came the night and stole them. Nshe hasn't any rose-honey to t on her bread."

"By the great jung alligator, that's too bad!" cr the Green Wizard. "I never id of such nerve in all my lifend bees so hard to get, too. Stting will have to be done aee."

"The Fairy Queenought that some of her enemies taken it," said Nick.

"Certainly it was fiend," declared the Green Wd. "No friend would steal y very best bees and then not in a word about it. No sirree."

They talked andked about the matter and aboho would be most likely to hthe stolen hive."

"When I think of said the Green Wizard finalast night at moon-up, I saw d of pixies go by carrying soing on a board over their liders. It looked sort of bright I am as sure as flypaper the was the golden bee-hive. There I think of it, the surer I gets sir, I'm as sure now as a of glue. It's those pixies."
